Kadar Regime Seeking Aid From West

Loss of Technical Experts Deplored as Harmful to Nation

BUDAPEST (AP)—The official newspaper of Premier Janos Kadar's Communist party today appealed for technical as well as financial aid from the United States, Britain and Russia.

At the same time the paper Nepszabadsag admitted that Communist regimes had been lying to the Hungarian people for years to hide the much higher living standards and technical and scientific advances made in the West.

It said the Hungarian people, especially its intellectuals and technical experts, had been cut off from the West "in order to prevent them from learning how backward Hungary has been."

In Washington, President Eisenhower's assistant press secretary, Murray Snyder, said there would be "no comment" on the article.

The paper pleaded with Hungarian intellectuals and engineers to stop fleeing to the West and added:

"Our most important task today is to lead our country out of its economic troubles. For this purpose we need among other things, loans from abroad. And we must arrange that our technicians may visit the West as well as socialist-Communist countries."

Nepszabadsag deplored the flight to the West of many engineers, agricultural experts, physicians and trade experts.

It said the country could not afford this loss and blamed the pre-October Communist regimes for the flight.

Earlier this week, it was reported in Budapest that the Kadar regime was seeking a $100 million loan from the World Bank. An official in Washington promptly declared that Hungary had no chance of getting such financial aid.

Economists already have advised Kadar that Hungary's revolt-disrupted economy needs at least $400 million in foreign aid to put it back on the track.

The Soviet Union appears the only likely source of such aid. Any assistance from Western countries is ruled as not probable since most of the Western European nations already are being squeezed tightly as the result of the closure of the Suez Canal.

In Washington, a spokesman said that Hungary could not receive aid from the World Bank since that nation is not a member of the global financial organization.

That leaves only the United States Treasury as a possible source of cash. And that seems wholly unlikely unless Hungary is able to make a complete break with her Kremlin-dominated policies. If Hungary is able to set up a new government as did Poland, it might be a different story, Washington observers have indicated.

The U. S. government has indicated it might extend economic assistance to Poland and Secretary of State Dulles said last month that such discussions are now underway with the Poles.

Economic Records Seen for New Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Records in employment, income and production should be set in the United States next year "barring grave emergency," Secretary of Commerce Weeks says.

But he added in a year-end statement Thursday that inflation is the biggest of the economic problems ahead.

Along with new highs in employment, wages, production and exports established during the past year, he noted that consumer prices rose 2 1/2 per cent during the year ended last month.

People made more and spent more, he said, but because of the rise in prices, the year's 6 per cent gain in personal income after taxes actually increased purchasing power only about 4 per cent over that in 1955.

Racial Disputes Head for Courts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The latest round in the Deep South's Negro-White battle on segregation appears destined to be fought in the quiet confines of the court room.

In Tallahassee, Fla., opposing factions in a bus segregation row are locked in litigation after a rash of technical arrests.

In Birmingham, Ala., a similar bus segregation squabble is headed for a hearing in federal court.

Negro leaders directing a challenge of the Alabama city's bus segregation ordinance called off demonstrations Thursday after 22 Negroes had been arrested.

They are charged with violating laws requiring separate seating for white persons and Negroes aboard the buses. All are free in bond of $100 each, pending trial.

Police Commissioner Robert E. Lindbergh said the city would "use every legal means at its disposal" to block a possible federal court injunction against the bus segregation ordinance.

NEGRO LEADERS Thursday called for an immediate end of their demonstrations after a two-hour meeting of the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights, headed by the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth.

Fingerprints Tell Gunman's Identity

CLEVELAND (AP)—A fingerprint check disclosed today that the man who shot a bus driver and a girl passenger to death here early Wednesday was Leo Daily, 24, of St. Louis, police said.

Daily, who was killed by police bullets in a four-block chase, had served a term in Leavenworth and his record shows arrests in St. Louis for burglary.

While the bus was being loaded at the Greyhound terminal here, driver Leo T. Almerico told Daily to stop bothering the 18-year-old girl, Miss Georgeann Kartzke of Ft. Eustis, Va. Daily killed both with a pistol, wounded five persons as he ran through the terminal, and then was killed by a patrolman and detective.

Heavy Snow Seen For North Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP)—The U. S. Weather Bureau today issued a heavy snow warning for northern Ohio.

The bureau said snow would accumulate to a depth of 3 to 6 inches by tonight in some counties of the area, with depths of one to three inches in the other counties.

Temperatures in the lower 20s were predicted for tonight.

Phone Strike Negotiations Remain Tightly Deadlocked

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio telephone strike appears destined to lap well into 1957.

An 11-hour negotiating session between officials of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. and the Communications Workers of America ended here early today with a report of no progress.

In fact, a federal mediator said the negotiations were no nearer a settlement than they were nearly six months ago when the strike in 24 Ohio counties began.

"The issues that were in dispute when the strike started are still in dispute," said federal mediator Nicholas Fillo.

These issues include classification of supervisory personnel, a no strike clause and more than a dozen others. But primarily, the strike is a union shop battle.

The company insists it will sign no contract that includes union shop provisions. And the union is just as determined it will not give up the clause, which was included in previous contracts.

General Telephone Co., which became Ohio Consolidated's parent organization last summer, has said the 22 arrests are enough to take the issue to court.

The Negroes deliberately violated the bus segregation ordinance Wednesday and Thursday. Twenty-one Negroes were arrested the first day and one Thursday.

In the Tallahassee dispute, Cities Transit, Inc., asked a federal judge Thursday to rule whether it is bound by city and state laws that require Negroes to sit in the rear of buses.

At the same time, the City of Tallahassee petitioned circuit court for an order directing Cities Transit to run its buses on a segregated seating basis, or forfeit its franchise.

Buses continued running under protection of a federal court temporary injunction against interference despite municipal orders to the contrary and token arrests of bus line personnel.

The City Commission suspended Cities Transit's franchise at midnight Wednesday and when Thursday runs started, Manager Charles L. Carter of the bus company and nine drivers were arrested.

BOND OF $100 was posted by each on charges involving operation of unfranchised transportation. Service was allowed to proceed, but Police Chief Frank Stoutamire warned drivers they must enforce seating segregation.

The Negro-White encounter occurred at the transit company's main terminal. About 40 jeering white teen-agers and 200 white adult bystanders met a Negro group which arrived to carry out its announced intention of sitting in front seats of buses.

The Negro group drew back and did not board the buses. The Rev. C. K. Steele, president of the Negro Inter-Civic Council which spearheads the seating integration drive, said the teen-agers' demonstration caused him and 15 council officers to abandon their project of sitting en masse in front seats.

WHITTIER, Alaska (AP)—Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council of Churches, today could make these two entries in his book of results upon completion of his holiday-season tour of Alaska military installations:

Checker games won: one. Backsliders retrieved: at least one, for four weeks, anyway.

His vanquished opponent and the admitted backslider are the same, Pfc. Simeon Nelobidev, an Eskimo soldier from the Pribilof Islands and checker champion at the port of Whittier.

Dr. Blake, a devotee of the game, heard of Nelobidev's championship and challenged him to a game. Nelobidev agreed but said he usually liked to make a slight wager on each game. Dr. Blake, who had learned his opponent was a back-sliding Presbyterian, agreed, stipulating the penalty for a loss by the soldier would be four weeks attendance at chapel.

Nelobidev never had a chance.

News in Brief Field Lauds Kadar Regime

BUDAPEST (AP)—Noel Field, a former U. S. State Department employee who chose political asylum in Communist Hungary in 1954, says he is convinced Premier Janos Kadar's government is acting for the people's best interests.

Field and his German-born wife, Herta, sought political asylum after the Communist government cleared them of espionage charges on which they had been held for 5 1/2 years without trial. Now 53, gaunt, and white haired, he works as a translation supervisor in the government printing house. Mrs. Field is his assistant.

Field and his wife talked with three newspaper acquaintances Thursday at their home. He expressed his views on the anti-Soviet Hungarian revolt but refused to be quoted directly.

He said he was convinced that the Kadar government saved Hungary from a "white terror" during the fighting when the rebels took revenge on Communist police.

He said the revolt surprised him. He added that Hungary, with other leadership, might have escaped a bloody revolution and taken the political course of Poland. This was reference to the regimes that preceded Kadar.

Field declared that any idea of his returning to the United States is more remote than ever, that he finds life in Hungary exciting since the rebellion.

TOKYO (AP)—Kyodo News Service reported that Japan's new government decided tentatively today to quit buying American farm surpluses, especially wheat, and to buy Australian wheat on regular account instead.

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—Hiroshi Ueda, president of the local pawnshop association, was expelled today and fined 500,000 yen ($1,388) by other members. Ueda charged his customers 6 per cent interest per month. Other members charged 9 percent.

HONG KONG (AP)—Peiping radio said today that 725,000 people in Red China this year were resettled in the sparsely settled north-eastern and northwestern provinces to solve the unemployment problem in major cities.

Jock Whitney To Be Envoy To Britain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Millionaire John Hay (Jock) Whitney has arranged a monthlong series of briefings before taking on his assignment as new American ambassador to Great Britain.

The 52-year-old sportsman and financier, who was named Thursday by President Eisenhower for the London post, will put aside his varied New York civic and business activities early next month to begin his training.

Friends said Whitney has already made it clear he intends to be a "working ambassador," dealing personally with major diplomatic chores instead of passing them to career employees.

Whitney has asked for a round of unusually long and detailed State Department briefing sessions on the problems that have jarred British-American relations, especially in the Middle East.

About mid-February he will leave for London, accompanied by his attractive wife, the former Betty Cushing Roosevelt, ready to stay on as long as the White House wants him.

The selection of Whitney to replace Ambassador Winthrop W. Aldrich, which had been widely forecast, is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

In London, the Daily Telegraph snorted that the United States still tends to name the "most complete amateurs" to some of its most important diplomatic posts "because of their social attractions."

No 'Bottleneck' Seen in Plans For Refugees

Nixon Sure Program To Run Smoothly as New Homes Are Found

CAMP KILMER, N. J. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he sees no possibility of a "bottleneck" developing at Camp Kilmer in the refugee resettlement program if expanded processing goals are reached.

Nixon Thursday wound up a two-continent inspection of the Hungarian refugee airlift with a visit to this Army center, the last stop for thousands in their flight to freedom.

He saw many aspects of camp life, including long lines waiting outside the three mess halls. But the lines moved quickly and there was plenty of seating space inside the halls.

Living quarters are Army barracks partitioned into small rooms with wallboard and curtains, two persons to a room. Children played quietly in the corridors with new toys while adults read or shopped in post exchange.

Others watched television, sewed or just talked in the recreation center.

IN THE PROCESSING buildings, newly arrived refugees moved steadily through medical examinations, customs, fingerprinting and immigration. Then they were interviewed by relief agencies for their job qualifications and where they wanted to settle and finally were issued new clothing.

Most refugees are processed within nine hours. The rest of the time is spent waiting to be matched with a job opportunity in the area where the refugee wants to live.

The vice president said he made the daylong tour of this reactivated Army reception center to see if a "bottleneck" had developed in the sea and air operation bringing refugees to America.

Immigration and relief agencies progressing the refugees and placing them in homes across the country aim at sending out 500 a day. And Nixon said the goal should be reached "in the very near future."

When it is, the center will be "adequate" to handle any "anticipated" influx of refugees, Nixon said.

By Thursday morning, 12,485 Hungarians had arrived at Kilmer and 5,904 had been processed. A camp spokesman said 6,581 are still awaiting resettlement. Less than 2 per cent stay in the camp longer than two weeks, he said.

By tonight, the spokesman said the center should reach the separation rate of 500 daily. At this figure, all 21,500 refugees authorized so far under the emergency airlift will be passed through the center by Jan. 22, he said.

Nixon made no comment on whether quotas will be eased to handle thousands more refugees still in camps in Austria.

This will be left to a conference between President Eisenhower and congressional leaders Jan. 1, he said. Refugees from other Iron Curtain countries will be given particular consideration in any liberalized immigration legislation, he said.

Hoover, Truman, Eisenhower Eulogize Woodrow Wilson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three living men who have served in the White House paid tribute Thursday night to Woodrow Wilson, the World War I President who was born 100 years ago today.

Eulogies from President Eisenhower and former Presidents Truman and Hoover were issued by the Woodrow Wilson Centennial Commission on the eve of special ceremonies scheduled to take place at Staunton, Va., Wilson's birthplace.

A preliminary tribute from Carlos Romulo, the Philippines ambassador to the United States who was chosen as the featured speaker at the Staunton observance, said that "Woodrow Wilson will remain one of the immortals of history."

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who has continued to live here since her husband died in 1924, arranged to attend the Virginia centennial observance.

Eisenhower's statement was prepared for a ceremony today in Paris, the scene of Wilson's work in helping to create the League of Nations after World War I.

California Faces New Fire Threat; Loss Is Mounting

This Malibu scene shows ruins of TV star Ralph Edwards' home.

A grim bulldozer operator builds a fire break below Castro peak in an effort to seal off flames from Latigo canyon.

FIRE RAZES HOMES OF FAMED—First day toll of the wind-lashed fire in the Malibu, Calif., area totaled one dead, many homes and buildings burned to the ground in 25,000 acres of blackened ruins. Many of the homes destroyed belonged to famous personalities of radio-TV and the screen, cost tens of thousands.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—While some 1,200 men were battling a three-day-old fire in nearby Malibu, another brush fire broke out early today in the exclusive Bel Air district of Los Angeles. The new blaze was described as potentially serious.

Meanwhile, the massive Malibu brush fire was running loose in two areas after covering about 25,000 acres, and at one point threatening a 75-room Franciscan monastery and about 20 homes.

Barring unfavorable winds, crews fighting a brush fire in the exclusive Bel Air district expected to have it under control sometime today.

The blaze broke out in Stone Canyon and for a time threatened a row of about six expensive homes bordering the canyon.

The number of homes and other structures already destroyed by the fierce three-day-old Malibu blaze was placed at 68 by Fire Chief Keith Klinger.

He said the figure might have been much higher except for last-ditch stands by fire fighters who ward off flames headed for a colony of expensive, movie stars' homes.

From Carbon Canyon, the flames dashed toward the sea.

Baby Gorilla Yawns as Many Scientists Visit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If the latest addition to the Columbus Zoo was disturbed, or even curious about the group of men gazing down at her in her crib, she gave no sign of it.

She yawned her small gorilla's yawn. And from the men around her, all eminent zoologists, came the voice of Earl Davis, superintendent of the Columbus Zoo.

"You can't hold her," he said. "This is no toy, if it was a human baby, all right, but not this one."

The men all stood around and stared. "Cuddles," as the baby is called, was born six days ago, the first gorilla to be born in captivity.

"I tell you she's almost human," commented Fletcher Reynolds, head of the Cleveland Zoo. "She's not human of course, but almost."

His was typical of the countless remarks made by zoologists who came from Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Oklahoma City and New York City to witness the tiny beast.

Immigration and relief agencies progressing the refugees and placing them in homes across the country aim at sending out 500 a day. And Nixon said the goal should be reached "in the very near future."

When it is, the center will be "adequate" to handle any "anticipated" influx of refugees, Nixon said.

By Thursday morning, 12,485 Hungarians had arrived at Kilmer and 5,904 had been processed. A camp spokesman said 6,581 are still awaiting resettlement. Less than 2 per cent stay in the camp longer than two weeks, he said.

By tonight, the spokesman said the center should reach the separation rate of 500 daily. At this figure, all 21,500 refugees authorized so far under the emergency airlift will be passed through the center by Jan. 22, he said.

Nixon made no comment on whether quotas will be eased to handle thousands more refugees still in camps in Austria.

This will be left to a conference between President Eisenhower and congressional leaders Jan. 1, he said. Refugees from other Iron Curtain countries will be given particular consideration in any liberalized immigration legislation, he said.

Hoover, Truman, Eisenhower Eulogize Woodrow Wilson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three living men who have served in the White House paid tribute Thursday night to Woodrow Wilson, the World War I President who was born 100 years ago today.

Eulogies from President Eisenhower and former Presidents Truman and Hoover were issued by the Woodrow Wilson Centennial Commission on the eve of special ceremonies scheduled to be held at Staunton, Va., Wilson's birthplace.

A preliminary tribute from Carlos Romulo, the Philippines ambassador to the United States who was chosen as the featured speaker at the Staunton observance, said that "Woodrow Wilson will remain one of the immortals of history."

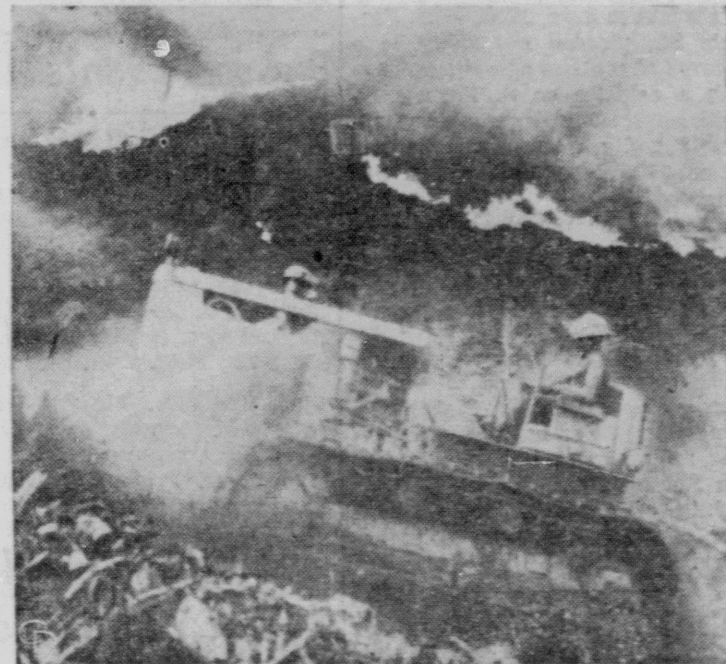

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who has continued to live here since her husband died in 1924, arranged to attend the Virginia centennial observance.

Eisenhower's statement was prepared for a ceremony today in Paris, the scene of Wilson's work in helping to create the League of Nations after World War I. WILSON'S defense of human

California Faces New Fire Threat; Loss Is Mounting

This Malibu scene shows ruins of TV star Ralph Edwards' home.

A grim bulldozer operator builds a fire break below Castro peak in an effort to seal off flames from Latigo canyon.

FIRE RAZES HOMES OF FAMED—First day toll of the wind-lashed fire in the Malibu, Calif., area totaled one dead, many homes and buildings burned to the ground in 25,000 acres of blackened ruins. Many of the homes destroyed belonged to famous personalities of radio-TV and the screen, cost tens of thousands.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—While some 1,200 men were battling a three-day-old fire in nearby Malibu, another brush fire broke out early today in the exclusive Bel Air district of Los Angeles. The new blaze was described as potentially serious.

Meanwhile, the massive Malibu brush fire was running loose in two areas after covering about 25,000 acres, and at one point threatening a 75-room Franciscan monastery and about 20 homes.

Barring unfavorable winds, crews fighting a brush fire in the exclusive Bel Air district expected to have it under control sometime today.

The blaze broke out in Stone Canyon and for a time threatened a row of about six expensive homes bordering the canyon.

The number of homes and other structures already destroyed by the fierce three-day-old Malibu blaze was placed at 68 by Fire Chief Keith Klinger.

He said the figure might have been much higher except for last-ditch stands by fire fighters who ward off flames headed for a colony of expensive, movie stars' homes and a 34-unit motel on the Pacific Coast highway.

IN SACRAMENTO, Gov. Goodwin Knight declared a state of disaster in Los Angeles County at the request of the County Board of Supervisors.

This makes legally available all manpower and equipment of the state government to help fight the fires.

The main area of distress today was in the Malibu Township area, where a second fire was started by flying sparks from the original blaze Thursday night. The first fire was burning in a semicircular front starting about 10 miles west of Santa Monica and extending north and west. The other blaze was down the coast about 2½ miles.

Firemen reported that most of the occupants of the monastery, located in Malibu Canyon, were evacuated, along with other residents of the area.

The fire threatening the monastery was known to have destroyed nine homes. There was a report that six more structures were destroyed in Carbon Canyon, where the blaze jumped from Las Flores Canyon.

From Carbon Canyon, the flames dashed toward the sea.

Baby Gorilla

Yawns as Many Scientists Visit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If the latest addition to the Columbus Zoo was disturbed, or even curious about the group of men gaping down at her in her crib, she gave no sign of it.

She yawned her small gorilla's yawn. And from the men around her, all eminent zoologists, came the voice of Earl Davis, superintendent of the Columbus Zoo.

"You can't hold her," he said. "This is no toy, if it was a human baby, all right, but not this one."

The men all stood around and stared. "Cuddles," as the baby is called, was born six days ago, the first gorilla to be born in captivity.

"I tell you she's almost human," commented Fletcher Reynolds, head of the Cleveland Zoo. "She's not human of course, but almost."

His was typical of the countless remarks made by zoologists who came from Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Oklahoma City and New York City to witness the tiny beast.

Columbus Man Fined on Four Traffic Counts

Two Defendants Found Guilty of Drunken Driving

Franklin W. Byers, 21, Columbus, was fined on four separate charges when he was arraigned in Municipal Court here Friday morning. He was arrested on Court St. about 12:15 a. m. Thursday by Patrolman Rodman Scott.

He pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated but was found guilty by Judge Max G. Dice at the hearing. Byers was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and suspended from driving for a year.

He pleaded guilty to the other three charges and drew $25 and costs for using license plates issued to the former owner of his car; $10 and costs for having no driver's license and $5 and costs for running the red light at Court and North Sts. The fine for running the red light was suspended.

Herbert Jones, 34, Carolyn Rd., also was found guilty of driving while intoxicated by Judge Dice after he pleaded not guilty at his arraignment. He was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail (seven suspended) and ordered not to drive for a year, except in connection with his work.

HE WAS arrested by State Highway Patrolman R. R. Shelton at 3 a. m. Thursday on Route 35.

Clarabelle Rose, 29, of 636 S. Fayette St., pleaded not guilty to a charge of reckless operation following a collision on S. Fayette St. with a tractor-trailer truck, but was found guilty when arraigned and fined $5 and costs. The fine was suspended.

The police report showed she ran into the tractor-trailer outfit as it was turning left off Fayette St. into Cherry St. The citation was for passing at an intersection.

Delbert Harper, 31, Bloomingburg, arrested by the State Highway Patrol, was fined $5 and costs for failure to stop at a stop sign on Route 62, and Charles W. Daniel, 34, of Maud, forfeited $15 bond for driving 45 mph on Columbus Ave.

Driver Involved In Three-Way Crash Fined

Franklin D. Daines, 29, Columbus, who was involved in a three-way crash last Friday night in which a man and woman was hospitalized, was fined $5 and costs after he was found guilty of reckless operation by Judge Max G. Dice in Municipal Court here Friday morning. He had pleaded not guilty to the charge filed by Deputy Sheriff Charles Hays.

Hays said an eyewitness told him Daines, driving west, had crossed the center line of the CCC Highway, 1 1/2 miles west of Mount Sterling, and hit an east-bound tractor-trailer truck driven by Roma Daniel Booth, 33, of Kidron, Ohio.

Daines said at the hearing he was blinded by the lights of the oncoming truck. He said his car swerved across the highway and that he was thrown out.

Hobart Brookbank, Columbus, crashed into Daines' car and both Mr. and Mrs. Brookbank were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus for treatment of severe injuries.

Neither Daines nor Booth was injured seriously, but the truck, which jack-knifed after the crash, and Daines' car was badly damaged.

U. S. Voters Said 'Losing Their Souls'

CHICAGO (AP)—Candidates and voters alike are "losing their souls" in American political campaigns, an Ohio State University professor declared Thursday.

Harold Harding told an opening day session of the joint convention of the Speech Assn. of America and the American Educational Theater that advertising and public relations men "are the successful professional sophists of our day who will engineer consent for a fee."

The 1956 campaign, he said, "was keyed to what is best for the national party chairman rather than what is best for the American citizen. We do indeed need a better way to elect a President."

Police Investigate Window-Breaking

A rear window of the home of G. A. DeLong, 921 Dayton Ave., was broken sometime Thursday evening and police are investigating the possibility it may have been smashed in a burglary attempt.

The report was made by DeLong at 11:30 p. m. Thursday.

Indications were, police said, that an attempt to enter the house was balked because the window could be only partly opened after it had been unlatched through the broken glass.

Floyd Lovell Killed In Route 40 Collision

Floyd Lovell, 50, of Cincinnati, one of three persons killed in a head-on automobile collision on Route 40 about four miles from Cambridge Thursday evening, was a brother of William A. Lovell, Washington C. H. attorney.

The others who died in the wreck were Bishop D. T. Gregory of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Gregory.

Attorney Lovell, who was called to Cambridge Thursday night by State Highway Patrol, said identification of his brother was difficult because his car had burst into flames after the crash and his body and clothes were burned beyond recognition.

Identification, he said, was made through his cufflinks and a piece of his suit, which the local man recognized as one his brother had worn while visiting the Lovells here last week.

The Highway Patrol made its tentative identification by tracing the license tag of the car, which was owned by a Cincinnati car rental agency. Lovell said he understood his brother was driving the car back from Pittsburgh for the owner of the agency, who was a friend of his.

LOVELL, a native of Cynthiana, Ky., had spent most of his life in Cincinnati where he was in the real estate business.

His only daughter, Mrs. Stanley Marston, lives in Honolulu.

Besides his brother here, he leaves four sisters, Mrs. May Hickman of Lebanon, Mrs. Ethel Gronback of Indianapolis, Fla., Mrs. Rebecca Clemons of Newtonville, near Cincinnati, and Mrs. Nell Dorr of Orlando, Fla.

Funeral services and burial will be Saturday at Cynthiana. The Lovells are planning to go there Saturday morning.

U. S. Voters Said 'Losing Their Souls'

CHICAGO (AP)—Candidates and voters alike are "losing their souls" in American political campaigns, an Ohio State University professor declared Thursday.

Harold Harding told an opening day session of the joint convention of the Speech Assn. of America and the American Educational Theater that advertising and public relations men "are the successful professional sophists of our day who will engineer consent for a fee."

The 1956 campaign, he said, "was keyed to what is best for the national party chairman rather than what is best for the American citizen. We do indeed need a better way to elect a President."

Police Investigate Window-Breaking

A rear window of the home of G. A. DeLong, 921 Dayton Ave., was broken sometime Thursday evening and police are investigating the possibility it may have been smashed in a burglary attempt.

The report was made by DeLong at 11:30 p. m. Thursday.

Indications were, police said, that an attempt to enter the house was balked because the window could be only partly opened after it had been unclatched through the broken glass.

Ohio's Booming Industrial Empire Slated To Boom Even More in '57

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio business is bumping its head on the ceiling.

One and all expect 1957 to be another banner year for Ohio's booming industrial empire.

But a lack of enough hands to do the job looks like the coming year's big problem, an Associated Press statewide survey indicates.

The manpower pinch and tight money for home construction form the ceiling against which Ohio business is bouncing. The head thumping promises plenty of business headaches in 1957.

Giant new industries—like the General Motors assembly plant in Trumbull County and the Olin-Revere aluminum plant in Monroe County—will need thousands of workers as they begin production in the coming year.

And middle-sized industries springing up all over Ohio will be siphoning off the few available workers.

Probably no more than one per cent of Ohio's labor force is jobless. Most of the unemployed, the best information available indicates, are seasonal workers.

The year 1956 was every bit as prosperous in Ohio as the AP's 1955 survey indicated it would be.

Only a mid-summer steel strike put a snubber on things. But both before and after the strike the level of steel production was at or slightly above rated capacity.

Many business centers report a significant fall-off in new construction, but many also report a late-in-the-year lull which erased earlier dips.

Many business leaders seem to feel Ohio still has not reached the crest of its prosperity wave; none can see a shoal on which the wave might break.

In northeastern and eastern Ohio steel is the key to good times. A little farther south they are using an aluminum key to unlock the door to prosperity.

Here's how things shape up now.

Marietta: "We have the biggest number of people employed that we've ever had in the county," says a spokesman for the state employment service. Unemployment is confined chiefly to seasonal workers. Aluminum is a key factor in the Mid-Ohio Valley's development. Production is scheduled for 1957 at the huge Olin Revere Metals Corp. and the Olin Matheson Chemical Corp. Aluminum plants at Clarion, 57 miles up the Ohio River. Aluminum fabrication plants are expected to arrive in the area soon.

"This has been our best year," says Harold McMillen, chairman of the Marietta area unit of the Mid-Ohio Valley Planners Assn. "It tops 1955 and the way things look, better days are ahead."

Newark: "The aluminum industry is expanding here also, and like the oil refining industry, looks to strong demand in 1957."

Athens—Ohio University's growing enrollment and building program, planned expansion in at least one important local industry, and completion of a highway relocation project and school addition program are facets of an overall outlook for continued "healthy" business. Commercial building and prospects for continued record volume of residential construction are good.

Mount Vernon — High employment, with the outlook for continued high industrial activity and expansion, makes prospects good for the early part of 1957. Business in 1956 has been close to 1955 levels.

Optimism is undiminished farther west across Ohio. From Toledo to Cincinnati, there is talk of expanded output, improved facilities and higher payrolls.

But where the people will come from to expand output, use the improved facilities and receive the pay is a question that apparently no one feels qualified to try to answer—at least not yet.

Here's what they are saying:

Toledo—Employment sagged in the earlier months of 1956, but has turned upward substantially. Oil refineries and the automotive and glass industries have completed, or are planning, expansion in the belief that 1957 prospects are good.

All types of construction, including homes, were off in 1956 from last year, but 1957 volume is expected to be up, with several large industrial projects in sight.

Fremont — Home appliances, tools and dies, drop forgings, cutlery, and automobile seat covers—all produced in large quantities—survived rugged competition in 1956 and looked forward to a year which may provide more of the same.

Industries related to agricultural production have had a boom year, spokesmen say. Cabbage and tomato processing plants report excellent business, and the sugar beet industry had its best year in 50 years.

Lima—Industrial employment is up about 1 1/2 per cent, with a 5 per cent increase anticipated for 1957. There has been a 6 per cent increase in general employment. Retail buying is ahead 5 per cent.

A slight decrease is noted in construction of single family dwellings, but there was a 30 per cent increase in construction or expansion of business and industrial buildings.

Marion—Local employment is at its highest point in history and this apparently helped boost retail sales to a record total this year, the Chamber of Commerce says. "Business leaders predict 'a new peak' in 1957. Industry has expanded to varied degrees, with indications from at least one that more employees will be added in the fall.

About 200 new homes were built during the year and a shopping center is being planned.

Columbus — "Barring war or some unforeseen difficulty," 1957 will be the most prosperous year ever in the Columbus area, businessmen say. Over-all construction volume, despite anticipated dips in homebuilding and private commercial-industrial projects, is expected to be up as much as 5 per cent. Wages, material costs and prices are expected to go up, but the over-all picture is stabilized by thousands of salaried public employees.

Business growth was unspectacular but steady, and added up to the best year in Columbus' history. Average employment rose about 4 per cent. Most industrial expansion involved smaller plants. Retail sales will be up 4 1/2 per cent over last year.

Dayton—Business leaders are generally optimistic about 1957, but many term the year just closing a "return to normal" and choose to match its accomplishments with the previous five years.

A lag in home building, accounted for much of the drop in construction, which will wind up the year about 30 million dollars shy of a year ago. Builders see little improvement in 1957.

Leaders in the manufacturing industry are confident new strides will be made next year in expansion of sales and facilities. S. C. Allyn, president of the National Cash Register Co., says 1957 "will be a year of unusual opportunity and good business."

Payrolls are expected to exceed one billion dollars, an estimated six per cent boost over the 984 million dollar volume of last year.

Retail sales in the Dayton area are expected to exceed seven millions, a six per cent boost over last year's volume.

Cincinnati — Conditions in the Queen City are healthy. Clearings of local banks were up more than one billion dollars over a year ago. The machine tool industry will show an estimated 20 to 25 per cent gain in shipments.

A record year is expected in department store sales. Building continues to boom, especially in the industrial areas. Under construction are multi-million dollar projects for the American Can Co.; Continental Can Co.; and the General Electric Co.'s gas turbine division plant in adjoining Evendale.

Chillicothe — Making gains in some fields but losing in others. Employment has been fairly constant. Building permits increased while business activities overall show a slight decline.

A Chamber of Commerce official says "while on the whole there have been no great increases, it must be quite evident that there is community stability with the potential development and growth in the fields of industry, business generally, housing, transportation and related fields."

Washington C. H. Looks Ahead Toward Bigger Plant Payrolls

Ohio is expecting another banner industrial year as the accompanying story points out, and Washington C. H. shares the outlook for increased payrolls in 1957.

Not only will one of the city's major plants reopen, but the prospects of a new factory, employing approximately 100 persons, makes the picture even brighter.

THE PENNINGTON bakery, destroyed by fire last June, is being rebuilt on a larger scale than before and probably will be in production by late spring, with a larger work force than the 200 employed before the early summer shutdown and a payroll estimated at a million dollars a year.

Pennington decided to rebuild here after the bakery firm had been offered 50,000 in financial assistance, partly from Chamber of Commerce industrial funds and partly raised by public subscription.

The DuPont corporation of Wilmington, Del., already has acquired a 67-acre site a few miles north of the city for a plant to manufacture automobile paint. While no construction date has been announced, there are indications that building may start in the spring.

AT THE SAME time, the Chamber of Commerce has received a

AT THE SAME time, the Chamber of Commerce has received a number of other inquiries relative to industrial sites, but there have been no definite commitments.

And while approximately 600 persons still leave Fayette County daily for jobs at Dayton, Columbus and other cities, two new industries—Art's Candies, Inc. and Pan Coatings, Inc., have given employment to approximately 30 persons during the last two months.

MEANWHILE, home building, running slightly behind last year, is on the upgrade with a number of new subdivisions either in the construction or planning stages.

Retail sales are ahead of last year, downtown merchants report, although sales tax receipts are off slightly more than one per cent.

"Branch College" Here Would Be a Big Asset

Since the recent action of the Washington C. H. Board of Education and other school officials in seeking to have Ohio University establish a "branch college" here as has been done in a number of other cities in Ohio, there has been much highly favorable comment on this move.

In addition to the benefits it would offer to many individuals, the community definitely would profit by acquiring something that would be a positive influence toward broadened enlightenment and education of our citizenry.

This branch college idea offers to stay-at-home student graduates of our city and county high schools, most of the same advantages which Ohio University students have on their campus, in the first two years of actual college training.

Here are some of the advantages which high school graduates and perhaps others would find available here at home with administrative personnel and any special clerical help needed, provided by Ohio University which would be reimbursed from student fees of $10 per semester hour for each course chosen for study:

College training at home, saving cost of room rent, meals, and transportation, with same advantages as students on campus, with first two years of college training available.

Cadet teaching program for elementary teachers, including practice teaching, available for those wanting to go into elementary teaching but have been stymied by lack of funds.

Learn while you earn. Persons wanting to work to support themselves or others can take the classes after work. Classes will be offered beginning at 4:00 p. m. Others will start later in the evening, closing at 9:30 p. m.

Courses may be taken to improve one's position in his present occupation, which may lead to more rapid advancement and higher pay.

Persons over 21, under certain conditions, may take special courses even though they may not have graduated from high school.

College graduates may be able to take courses they were unable to work into their schedules during their college attendance.

College graduates who may want to take educational courses leading to teaching may complete the requirements for a cadet certificate without leaving home.

Courses taught are offered on the freshman and sophomore levels, the majority being in the fields of liberal arts, education, and commerce. However, a beginning can be made in engineering. The courses include English, history, accounting, advertising, geography, physics, speech, physical education, psychology, biology, sociology, marketing, business, law, music, chemistry, mathematics, engineering drawing, government, design, philosophy, economics, finance, human relations, and others.

It is to be hoped that our whole county-wide community will give every possible aid toward pushing this project toward a successful establishment of such a branch college here.

Diet and Health Abdominal Noises Help in Diagnosis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
Ever listen to your stomach? You'd be surprised at what it has to say.

The growls and gurglings of abdominal organs which a physician hears through his stethoscope generally give him a pretty good idea of what is going on inside. They aid him in diagnosing various cases.

Origin of most of these sounds can be classified as active or as passive.

Active Sounds

Active sounds are noises caused by the passage of contents of the intestine and contractions of intestinal musculature. When the bowel is distended with gaseous or fluid contents, you can hear a "liquid" sound.

Passive sounds, on the other hand, are produced when a portion of the intestine, which is greatly distended with fluid or gas, moves because of a slight change in the patient's position or because of his breathing. In such instances, you can hear — with the aid of a stethoscope, of course — a run of gas bubbles rising to the surface of the fluid.

When this is heard, but there are no active sounds, it usually indicates that paralytic ileus is present in some degree. When fully developed, paralytic ileus has a characteristic "melody" of high-pitched sound as a few gas bubbles rise to the surface of a tense loop of intestine shifted either by respiratory or external movements.

Incidentally, the pitch of these various intestinal noises is another distinguishing feature. This varies from the loud low rumble which undoubtedly has embarrassed many of you time and time again, to a high pitched "beep" of an intestinal wall tightly stretched.

In cases of acute intestinal obstruction, high-pitched notes will be produced by the tense gut. In chronic obstruction, however, the pitch is low because the bowel is not distended.

Abdominal noises also are an aid in diagnosing stages of peritonitis. Increased activity of the gut is noticed in local peritoneal irritation. The sounds of intestinal movements spreads as peritonitis advances.

Then, in general peritonitis, intestinal movements halt completely and there are no sounds at all.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J. A. What prevents a fracture from healing?

Answer: it may be due to improper setting, scar tissue or soft tissues improperly located between the healing sites of the broken bones.

Sometimes failure to consume a diet adequate in vitamins and minerals may be at fault.

The older the person, the more prolonged the healing process.

Do Your Yule Shopping Now

NEW YORK — There are only 362 days to brood until next Christmas.

Now is the time for a really helpful fellow to do his shopping early.

Are you still kicking yourself around mentally for the mistakes you made this year, the bargains you passed by because at the last moment you got suddenly stingy?

Why waste time bemoaning past errors? Do something about your 1957 Christmas shopping now.

Of course, fool that you are, you probably skipped right by the offering of the "Treatise On Falconry," written by H. Schlegel, and published in Düsseldorf between 1844 and 1853. The price tag upset you—a mere $695 at that.

Well, for $35 and freight charges, I'll be glad to sell you—purely as a Christmas gesture of good will—my own unpublished book on hunting.

"The Story Of Nine Bitter Years In Which A Young, Not Unhandsome Man From The Middlewest Spent Trying In 12-817 Ways (Some While Armed, Others While Barefooted) To Destroy A Single Family Of Mice That Harassed Him And His Child Bride While They Dwelt In A Third Floor Walkup In A Greenwich Village Building That Lacked Central Heating."

In another century, the way pulp paper costs are rising, this manuscript could be a real buy at $35.

Are you still sad because you slipped up on the chance to buy for a mere $35 a wonderful 18th century orrery?

Many people today aren't sure just what an orrery really is. So were a lot of people who owned them in the old days, when they were widely sold under the slogan, "A home is but a hut without an orrery."

Actually, an orrery is no more than an early form of planetarium, a small boxed mechanical gadget by which you could readily show the movements of the earth, sun and planets.

How often must you have visited a bosom friend's home and seen him visibly lose caste because a guest said, "Confidentially, I've been wondering about the movements of the sun, planets and earth lately, old boy. Mind if I settle my doubts once and for all by a quick peek at your orrery?"

Your friend was fairly caught. He had a three-car garage, a house with four bathrooms—but no orrery, that final little touch that makes a house a home.

There are plenty of other sound tips on how to plan ahead right now for a wonderful Christmas next year.

Take your boss, for example.

By Hal Boyle

Did you hand him a small packet of two-for-a-quarter cigars? Start saving for a real surprise for him and get him a $7.50 cigar that will take him 5½ hours to smoke. Yep, they're on the market, and you don't have to stand in line for them right now.

Looking for an unusual gift for your wife? One firm put out a solid gold $5,000 sewing machine. With a little pleading they might sell you one. The beauty of an unusual gift like this is that if your wife sews her own clothes in four or five generations the machine will pay for itself.

Now about yourself. The guy who gets left with an empty sock next Christmas Eve has only himself to blame.

He should start writing letters to Santa Claus immediately and sign his own name.

Personally, I want nothing but a measly shirt. It's made of vicuna fabric "so rare that only one out of four million persons living today own this shirt."

So what? There are always two classes.

Only 85 of the shirts will be made in 1957. Each has six gold buttons. Each shirt retails at $595, and they're no cheaper by the dozen.

The nice thing about the shirts is they don't have to be thrown away when dirty. They can be dry cleaned and used over and over again. The gold buttons are even washable.

Oil--the Weapon of War

Oil is now a weapon of war, not only as between Arab states and western Europeans but also among the Arabs, between those who have oil and those who do not have oil but over whose territory pipelines run. Thus, between Syria and Iraq there is bitterness, for Syria has sabotaged Iraq's pipeline and the Iraqi have been thinking of war-like acts to protect their pipelines and there is even some talk of running a line across to Turkey.

There was an Iraqi broadcast on this subject that is most interesting because it is so very human. Iraq went along with the other Arab nations until Syria cut the pipeline and then money talked and the Iraqi looked upon the Syrians as ingrates. Said the Iraqi radio:

"Responsible and unofficial Syrian sources are aware of Iraqi sacrifices for Iraq during its struggle against French imperialism. They have not forgotten Iraqi aid on all occasions and under all circumstances. They remember the Iraqi stand in demanding the realization of Syria's sovereignty. . . ."

The tone is quite current and the Syrians probably answered, "True, but what have you done for us lately?" The Syrians have come under Soviet influence and therefore have a lessened admiration for private property. So the Iraqi accuse the Syrians of cutting off their noses to spite their faces:

"An Iraqi military expert previously explained the great damage and serious consequences resulting from the blowing up of oil installations in Syria and other places. The lack of oil during present circumstances will undoubtedly paralyze the army's mechanized units and render most weapons useless, as well as bringing military movements to a standstill. Planes, tanks, trucks, guns, and other heavy and light weapons are useless without oil and its byproducts."

Despite all this, the Syrians continued to sabotage Iraq oil and that made the Iraqi very angry, indeed. They asked:

"Does not he who commits such an act harm himself, his country, and people before the enemy has an opportunity to attack him? Was not the demolition, destruction, and sabotage of oil installations high treason at a time when Arab armies are stationed in the vicinity of these installations, not knowing when they will engage in battle with the treacherous and sinful enemy? . . ."

And so it goes, accusations and recriminations and probably, in time, the imported weapons will be used, one against the other in the small wars that have racked Asia and Africa. Maybe these small wars do not count for too much, except for those who are killed in them and their relatives, but too many of them are recurring and the real danger is that one day a small war may become a great war. That is a real danger.

Arabs must be a curious people. Not a single Arab country came to Egypt's assistance until after the United States had intervened on behalf of Nasser. It is true that Syria and Iraq moved into Jordan's territory, but that seems to be leading to trouble between Syria and Iraq. Nasser is now a strong man because he was made strong by American support but the other Arabs apparently waited to see what would happen before they exhibited signs of Arab brotherhood.

That is perhaps an historical footnote worth looking at because there has, for several years, been an assumption of Arab unity, perhaps a somewhat romanticized by Lawrence of Arabia, but how much unity is there actually, let us say, between the Iraqis and the Syrians. Is there as much unity as between the Norwegians and the Swedes or as much as between the British and the East Germans? The latter question is somewhat interesting because how many of the peoples of East Germany are of the same basic stock as compose the English race?

The Poles who are giving the Russians are having no trouble, there are large pockets of Germans or at any rate, peoples who regard themselves as Germans. Stalin was not a Slav at all; he was a Georgian, a very mixed race of Tartar origin, perhaps with Hittite thrown in. Who knows?

Is racial kinship a factor in these matters? If so, why did not the United States or Canada support Great Britain against Nasser? It is neither race nor religion that holds peoples together—it is apparently oil.

The growls and gurglings of abdominal organs which a physician hears through his stethoscope generally give him a pretty good idea of what is going on inside. They aid him in diagnosing various cases.

Passive sounds, on the other hand, are produced when a portion of the intestine, which is greatly distended with fluid or gas, moves because of a slight change in the patient's position or because of his breathing. In such instances, you can hear — with the aid of a stethoscope, of course — a run of gas bubbles rising to the surface of the fluid.

When this is heard, but there are no active sounds, it usually indicates that paralytic ileus is present in some degree. When fully developed, paralytic ileus has a characteristic "melody" of high-pitched sound as a few gas bubbles rise to the surface of a tense loop of intestine shifted either by respiratory or external movements.

Incidentally, the pitch of these various intestinal noises is another distinguishing feature. This varies from the loud low rumble which undoubtedly has embarrassed many of you time and time again, to a high pitched "beep" of an intestinal wall tightly stretched.

In cases of acute intestinal obstruction, high-pitched notes will be produced by the tense gut. In chronic obstruction, however, the pitch is low because the bowel is not distended.

Abdominal noises also are an aid in diagnosing stages of peritonitis. Increased activity of the gut is noticed in local peritoneal irritation. The sounds of intestinal movements spreads as peritonitis advances.

Then, in general peritonitis intestinal movements halt completely and there are no sounds at all.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J. A. What prevents a fracture from healing?

Answer: It may be due to improper setting, scar tissue or soft tissues improperly located between the healing sites of the broken bones.

Sometimes failure to consume a diet adequate in vitamins and minerals may be at fault.

The older the person, the more prolonged the healing process.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery
un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H and STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

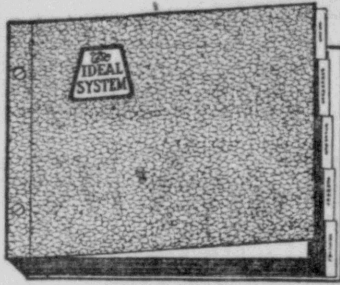

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONOID, the amazing new lavative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLED bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Stulley-Giffin Wedding Vows Are Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stulley of Milford Center are announcing the marriage of their daughter Aveline, to Mr. Donald Giffin, son of Mrs. Warner Penrod of this city.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bridegroom's mother, at 2:30 in the afternoon, Sunday, December 23rd, with Rev. Don McMillin, minister of the First Christian Church in this city, officiating.

A lovely fireplace, decorated with poinsettias and lighted tapers in crystal holders at either end of the mantel, afforded the background for the wedding vows, and the bride was very attractive in a white waltz length formal of nylon net, enterwoven with silver threads throughout the very full skirt. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations with white satin streamers atop a white Bible.

Miss Jean Sword, maid of honor, wore a street length dress of white faille, trimmed in black velvet, with a very full skirt, and her corsage was of red and white carnations. Mr. Darrell Hunter of this city served as best man.

Mrs. Stulley, mother of the bride, chose a French blue faille dress including black accessories, and Mrs. Penrod was attired in a navy blue and white nylon lace afternoon dress, with navy blue accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of red and white carnations.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held and the bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth with an arrangement of poinsettias and white lighted tapers in silver candelabras. Atop the two tiered wedding cake was a miniature bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Warner Penrod presided at the reception.

The new Mrs. Giffin is a graduate of Clarksburg High School and will continue her position at the J. C. Penney Co. in this city, and the bridegroom is employed at the Whitfield Manufacturing Co. in this city.

Davis-Miller Vows Exchanged Thursday

MRS. ELLIS ERVIN MILLER

A dignified and impressive ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, united in marriage Miss Dinah Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Grove Davis of the Greenfield Road and Mr. Ellis Ervin Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Parrett Miller, of the Prairie Road, two families prominent in the community.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. Neil Hand and was preceded by a half hour of music with Mrs. Marion Gage at the organ and Mr. James Michael, soloist. Mrs. Gage played the "Tocato and Fugue in D Minor", "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring", and the "Chorale: All Praise to Jesus Hallowed Name", all by Bach and the "Pastorale from Christmas Concerto" by Corelli. Mr. Michael sang, "To You", Richard Strauss; "When I Have Sung My Songs", Ernest Charles; and "You Will Know My Love", Milan Skiles.

The chancel of the church was banked with Christmas trees and Emerald fern, with eight tall standards of seven-branch candelabra holding lighted white candles which provided a beautiful background for the lovely bride and her attractive attendants. As the strains of the Bridal March from Lohengrin sounded, the bride, a picture of piquant beauty and loveliness, approached on the arm of her father wearing the ivory satin wedding dress with short train, high neckline and long pointed sleeves which had been worn by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lillie Grove Davis. Her veil was three-tiered of rose point and Belgian lace which had been brought from Belgium by the great-great aunt of the groom, Mrs. Orville Rowe Weinmann, and worn by his mother, Mrs. Miller and sister, Mrs. Chapman, and this was topped with a coronet of pearls. Her shower bouquet was of white poinsettias and stephanotis.

Miss Davis chose for her maid-of-honor her sister, Miss Jo Ann Davis, and for her bridesmaids, Miss Elizabeth Jane Davis, Mrs. Roland Guy, Miss Elizabeth Otis, of Evanston, Illinois, and Mrs. Gordon Eldridge, of Columbus. Their dresses were of Christmas red velvet designed in Empire fashion with low rounded neckline, bodice band of matching red satin and bow in back which hung from the bodice to the hemline, matching circles of red velvet and illusion. They carried small green satin wreaths trimmed with Christmas bouquets of evergreen and red poinsettias.

Mr. Miller chose as his best man, Mr. James Fox, and the ushers were: Mr. David Chapman, Mr. Robert McEntee, Mr. Webb Ellis, Mr. John Franklin Dawson and Mr. William E. Case.

Mrs. Davis, mother of the bride was becomingly dressed in a fawn colored sheer wool with matching fawn colored hat, accented by pink flowers, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Miller, the groom's mother, wore a beige crepe dress with hat of beige and white and corsage of pink carnations.

Immediately after the vows were exchanged the wedding party formed a receiving line at the rear of the church to receive the well wishes of the guests.

Following the ceremony at the church, a reception was held at the Washington Country Club where the lounge was decorated throughout with evergreen and red poinsettias. The bride's table was covered with an heirloom white linen cloth and at each end were antique crystal compotes filled with white roses and flanked by three-branch candelabra holding lighted white candles. A beautiful three-tiered wedding cake topped with holly, centered the table.

Hostesses at the reception were: Mrs. David Chapman, Cincinnati; Miss Shirley Dunlap, Williamsport; Miss Barbara Dilts, Dayton; Miss Nancy Dunn, New Brighton, Pennsylvania; Miss Carolina Rice, Greenfield; Miss Judy Jones, South Jend, Indiana; Mrs. Donald Dunn, Mrs. William Case, Mrs. Joseph Larwa, Columbus; Miss Kathleen Davis, Miss Julia Persinger, Miss Sue Barclay and Miss Shirley Hickman.

For her going away ensemble the new Mrs. Miller wore a brown sheer wool suit with trim of brass buttons, brown accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The bride is a graduate of Washington High School and is at present a senior at Ohio State University where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Mr. Miller has received his B. S. and M. A. degrees from Ohio State University where he was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He is presently a member of the armed forces stationed at Fort Chaffee, Arkansas.

The young couple will establish their home in March after Mrs. Miller has graduated from Ohio State University.

Other out-of-town guests were: Miss Jean Baine, Rocky River; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Thornton, Chillicothe; Miss Elma Baker, Washington D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Nairne, Miss Clayton Nairne, Mr. and Mrs. W. Westerfield, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Westerfield, New Orleans, La.; Mrs. Virginia Otis, Mr. John F. Stully-Giffin Wedding Vows Are Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stulley of Milford Center are announcing the marriage of their daughter Avo-nelle, to Mr. Donald Giffin, son of Mrs. Warner Penrod of this city.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bridegroom's mother, at 2:30 in the afternoon,
Sunday, December 23rd, with Rev.
Don McMillin, minister of the First Christian Church in this city, officiating.

A lovely fireplace, decorated with poinsettias and lighted tapers in crystal holders at either end of the mantel, afforded the background for the wedding vows, and the bride was very attractive in a white waltz length formal of nylon net,
interwoven with silver threads throughout the very full skirt. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations with white satin streamers atop a white Bible.

Miss Jean Sword, maid of honor, wore a street length dress of white faile, trimmed in black velvet, with a very full skirt, and her corsage was of red and white carnations.
Mr. Darrell Hunter of this city

Mrs. Stulley, mother of the bride, chose a French blue faile dress including black accessories, and Mrs.
Penrod was attired in a navy blue and white nylon lace afternoon dress, with navy blue accessories.
Both mothers wore corsages of red and white carnations.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held and the bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth with an arrangement of poinsettias and white lighted tapers in silver candelabras. Atop the two tiered wedding cake was a miniature bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Warner Penrod presided at the reception.

ate of Clarksburg High School and will continue her position at the J.

The chancel of the church was banked with Christmas trees and Emerald fern, with eight tall standards of seven-branch candelabra holding lighted white candles which provided a beautiful background for the lovely bride and her attractive attendants. As the strains of the Bridal March from Lohengrin sounded, the bride, a picture of piquant beauty and loveliness, approached on the arm of her father wearing the ivory satin wedding dress with short train, high neckline and long pointed sleeves which had been worn by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lillie Grove Da-

3 Color-Packed Football Games Due Saturday

Georgia Tech-Pitt Contest To Vie in First of Bowl Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The five teams of Georgia Tech and Pitt together with senior stars from most of the big schools that didn't draw a postseason assignment play in three games Saturday as college football throws the first of its New Year's holiday parties.

Tech and Pitt meet in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., in a rematch of last New Year's Sugar Bowl.

The all-star seniors are divided the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., and the 32nd annual Shrine East-West game in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

All three will be broadcast and telecast, with CBS handling the Gator Bowl beginning at 1:45 p.m. EST, and NBC doing the Blue-Gray at 1:45 followed by the East-West at 4:45.

The Jan. 1 program will be headed by the Big Four — Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, Cotton Bowl at Dallas and Orange Bowl at Miami.

Coach Bobby Dodd has taken seven Georgia Tech teams bowling and has won them all, including the last three years in succession. Both Tech and Pitt are packed with veterans from last January's Sugar Bowl game.

In which Tech scored the only touchdown after a disputed pass interference play in the end zone.

The Rebels, with a 12-5 edge in the series so far, are 6-point favorites over the North for Montgomery's Blue-Gray annual. Jim Tatum of North Carolina is head coach for the Grays, who boast such aces as Mackie Prickett of South Carolina, Howell Tubbs of Auburn, Jack Pardee of Texas A&M and LSU's Earl Leggett.

Blue coach Don Faurot, who recently ended his career at Missouri, has a couple of dandy passers in Purdue's Lennie Dawson and Missouri's Jim Hunter.

The East-West lineup is just as star-spangled with such name players around as Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, Terry Barr of Michigan, Abe Woodson of Illinois Jim Parker and Bill Michael of Ohio State, Sam Valentine of Penn State and Navy's Wilson Whitmire of the East matched against the likes of the West's John Brodie of Stanford, Jon Arnett of Southern California, Bill Prier of Oklahoma, Jim Crawford of Wyoming, Paul Wiggin of Stanford and Jack Hill of Utah State.

Buck Shaw, now of the Air Force Academy, coaches the West and Notre Dame's Terry Brennan the East, which rates a slight favorite.

Probe of AAU Seen by Allen

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Phog Allen, former basketball coach at the University of Kansas, said Thursday night a non-profit foundation is being set up to delve into the Amateur Athletic Union's handling of American participation in the Olympic Games.

"You'll be hearing a lot about it during the next few weeks," he said. "I'm not at liberty to say more right now. The trouble has always been that nobody does anything about the AAU in the four years between Olympics."

Chaminade Downs Blue Lions, 63-52

Too much height was the principal factor in the 63 to 52 loss of the Washington C. H. High School cagers at Dayton Chaminade Thursday night.

The Lions had trouble getting started against the Chaminade defense, which shifted from a zone to pressing man - to - man guarding.

But, once they got going they played on almost even terms with the Daytonians. It was the 8-point (14-6) lead the Chaminade boys took in the first period that hurt the Lions most.

After outscoring their opponents 13-12 in the second period, the half ended with the Lions trailing by only 7 points.

But, when the teams came back from the intermission, the Daytonians stretched their advantage to 11 points and, although the Lions staged a rally that whittled the Chaminade margin to 5 points with less than three minutes to play, the ball - hawking Daytonians got three quick baskets and played a tight possession game until the final whistle to win by 11 points.

TOM SWAIN, usually one of the high-scoring Lions, was blocked effectively by the Chaminade defense around the basket and held to one field goal and 4 free throws.

But, while the Daytonians were concentrating on Swain, Larry Milstead slipped through to hit 8 field goals and lead the Lion scoring with 18 points.

Dick English, the WHS long range sharpshooter, got only a couple from far out and two jump shots from the side against the pressing Chaminade defense.

There was nothing the matter with the WHS passing and floor game, but the taller Dayton boys were getting most of the rebounds as they controlled the bankboards, especially during the early part of the game.

THE LIONS used both a zone and man-to-man defense as they tried to cope with the unerring accuracy of John Matlock, who led his team with 25 points.

The defeat was the fourth of the season for the Lions. They have won three games, two of them from SCO League opponents, Wilmington and Hillsboro. One of their four defeats was to Circleville, considered the team to beat in the SCO. Their next game is with another SCO team, at Greenfield Jan. 4.

The WHS Reserves were frozen out, 46 to 41, by Chaminade in the preliminary. Southworth and Carter paced the WHS attack with 11 points apiece. Stillings provided the thrills, however, when he came through with 9 points in the last period.

Jackson Awarded Close Decision

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson came up with his best fighting in the last round and was awarded a close but unanimous 10-round decision over Julio Mederos in their heavyweight bout at the Milwaukee Arena Thursday night.

Jackson, 195½ pounds, forced what action the fight developed, but Mederos, 193½, threw the stiffest punches. The Cuban twice staggered The Hurricane, who is rated the No. 1 heavyweight contender. Mederos is unranked.

With the fight still to be won in the final three minutes, Jackson kept after Mederos with both hands and landed enough to get the nod from the officials.

Hornung Set To Team with Husky Line

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, the 1956 Heisman Trophy winner, gets his chance to operate behind a big, experienced line Saturday when he guides the East against the West in the 32nd annual Shrine charity football game.

Hornung starred with a losing Irish club that suffered from inexperience this past season but nevertheless proved an individual standout and was the pro bonus choice of the Green Bay Packers.

In the All-Star game at Kezar Stadium, he'll be working his split T magic behind a line averaging 214 pounds.

Hornung's college coach, Terry Hennann, heads the staff for the East and many observers expect the club to stick rather close to the ground. In the backfield with Hornung are Abe Woodson of Illinois, Terry Barr of Michigan and Ray Alberigi of Penn State, all hard hitting runners.

West strategy for the game, which will be televised and broadcast by NBC starting at 4:45 p.m. (EST) apparently will be to go around and over.

Coach Buck Shaw, formerly of the San Francisco 49ers and now of the Air Force Academy, worked

Rosi, Vasquez Awaiting Bout

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two unranked but aggressive lightweights, Paolo Rosi of the Bronx and Baby Vasquez of Mexico City, clash tonight in a nationally televised fight regarded by rival camps as a stepping stone to big matches.

Rosi, a hard-hitter who is also effective as a counter-puncher, is an 8-5 favorite to win because of his ability to land a good blow with either hand. He has a record of 23 victories in 26 starts.

Vasquez, the Mexican lightweight champion, has won 45 and lost 12. The match will be televised nationally at 10 p. m.

Hamilton Cagers Bench Own Stars

CINCINNATI (AP)—A disciplinary suspension voted by their teammates will keep Hamilton High School's three top scorers out of action in the opening game of the Tri-State Invitational tonight.

Hamilton Coach Warren Scholler said Thursday that Paul Riggins and the Blaine brothers, Tony and Larry, have been benched for the game with Aurora, Ind.

Scholler said the nine other members of the team voted to suspend the trio for missing practice, being late for workouts and other infractions.

Giants Pilot Plotting for Title Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Jim Howell of the New York Giants isn't one to reveal his secrets but he took time out today to announce some of his plans to contain the Chicago Bears in Sunday's National Football League championship game.

His main problem is to stop backfield star Rick Casares and end Harlon Hill, probably the two big offensive threats of the Bears.

"Well," he said, "we have about 12 basic defenses with variations off them to suit individual situations."

"Of course, we could double up on Casares or Hill. But then we would leave a fine runner like Bobby Watkins or pass receiver like Jim Dooley lightly guarded."

Howell said that the Giants would use some new variations of their basic defenses to suit what they have been able to learn about the Bears from first-hand knowledge and scouting reports.

"But," he laughed, "it's a vicious circle. They will have to put in new variations of their offense

Pro Cage Standings Drawing Closer

NEW YORK (AP)—Only two games separated the four teams in the Western division of the National Basketball Assn. today. And the Fort Wayne Pistons, division champs, apparently have begun making their move.

The Pistons moved into second place Thursday night by trouncing the Minneapolis Lakers 120-93. The triumph put them only a half game behind pacesetter Rochester which dropped a 97-92 decision to the Boston Celtics.

In other games, the St. Louis Hawks beat the Syracuse Nats 102-95 and Philadelphia walloped New York 112-87.

and we'll have to cope with them as we go along."

What about the "soft" conditioning he has been giving the club leading up to the all-important game? The Giants have worked only five days since their last regular-season game on Dec. 15.

"We haven't worked hard because we feel we are ready," Howell answered. "We didn't take all those days off because we felt the Bears were not good. Except for us we think they're the best in the league."

Georgia Tech-Pitt Contest To Vie in First of Bowl Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The fine teams of Georgia Tech and Pitt together with senior ends from most of the big schools that didn't draw a postseason assignment play in three games Saturday as college football throws the first of its New Year's holiday parties.

Tech and Pitt meet in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., in a rematch of last New Year's Sugar Bowl.

The all-star seniors are divided the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., and the 32nd annual Shrine East-West game in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

All three will be broadcast and telecast, with CBS handling the Gator Bowl beginning at 1:45 p.m. EST, and NBC doing the Blue-Gray at 1:45 following by the East-West at 4:45.

The Jan. 1 program will be headed by the Big Four — Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, Cotton Bowl at Dallas and Orange Bowl at Miami.

Coach Bobby Dodd has taken seven Georgia Tech teams bowling and has won them all, including the last three years in succession. Both Tech and Pitt are packed with veterans from last January's Sugar Bowl game.

In which Tech scored the only touchdown after a disputed pass interference play in the end zone.

The Rebels, with a 12-5 edge in the series so far, are 6-point favorites over the North for Montgomery's Blue-Gray annual. Jim Tatum of North Carolina is head coach for the Grays, who boast such aces as Mackie Prickett of South Carolina, Howell Tubbs of Auburn, Jack Pardee of Texas A&M and LSU's Earl Leggett.

Blue coach Don Faurot, who recently ended his career at Missouri, has a couple of dandy passers in Purdue's Lennie Dawson and Missouri's Jim Hunter.

The East-West lineup is just as star-spangled with such name players around as Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, Terry Barr of Michigan, Abe Woodson of Illinois, Jim Parker and Bill Michael of Ohio State, Sam Valentine of Penn State and Navy's Wilson Whitmire of the East matched against the likes of the West's John Brodie of Stanford, Jon Arnett of Southern California, Bill Prier of Oklahoma, Jim Crawford of Wyoming, Paul Wiggins of Stanford and Jack Hill of Utah State.

Buck Shaw, nov of the Air Force Academy, coaches the West and Notre Dame's Terry Brennan the East, which rates a slight favorite.

Probe of AAU Seen by Allen

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Phog Allen, former basketball coach at the University of Kansas, said Thursday night a non-profit foundation is being set up to delve into the Amateur Athletic Union's handling of American participation in the Olympic Games.

"You'll be hearing a lot about it during the next few weeks," he said. "I'm not at liberty to say more right now. The trouble has always been that nobody does anything about the AAU in the four years between Olympics."

Chaminade Downs Blue Lions, 63-52

Too much height was the principal factor in the 63 to 52 loss of the Washington C. H. High School cagers at Dayton Chaminade Thursday night.

The Lions had trouble getting started against the Chaminade defense, which shifted from a zone to pressing man-to-man guarding. But, once they got going they played on almost even terms with the Daytonians. It was the 8-point (14-6) lead the Chaminade boys took in the first period that hurt the Lions most.

After outscoring their opponents 13-12 in the second period, the half ended with the Lions trailing by only 7 points.

But, when the teams came back from the intermission, the Daytonians stretched their advantage to 11 points and, although the Lions staged a rally that whittled the Chaminade margin to 5 points with less than three minutes to play, the ball-hawking Daytonians got three quick baskets and played a tight possession game until the final whistle to win by 11 points.

TOM SWAIN, usually one of the high-scoring Lions, was blocked effectively by the Chaminade defense around the basket and held to one field goal and 4 free throws.

But, while the Daytonians were concentrating on Swain, Larry Milstead slipped through to hit 8 field goals and lead the Lions scoring with 18 points.

Dick English, the WHS long range sharpshooter, got only a couple from far out and two jump shots from the side against the pressing Chaminade defense.

There was nothing the matter with the WHS passing and floor game, but the taller Dayton boys were getting most of the rebounds as they controlled the bankboards, especially during the early part of the game.

THE LIONS used both a zone and man-to-man defense as they tried to cope with the unerring accuracy of John Matlock, who led his team with 25 points.

The defeat was the fourth of the season for the Lions. They have won three games, two of them from SCO League opponents, Wilmington and Hillsboro. One of their four defeats was to Circleville, considered the team to beat in the SCO.

Their next game is with another SCO team, at Greenfield Jan. 4.

The WHS Reserves were frozen out, 46 to 41, by Chaminade in the preliminary. Southworth and Carter paced the WHS attack with 11 points apiece. Stillings provided the thrills, however, when he came through with 9 points in the last period.

Hornung Set To Team with Husky Line

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, the 1956 Heisman Trophy winner, gets his chance to operate behind a big, experienced line Saturday when he guides the East against the West in the 32nd annual Shrine charity football game.

Hornung starred with a losing Irish club that suffered from inexperience this past season but nevertheless proved an individual standout and was the pro bonus choice of the Green Bay Packers.

In the All-Star game at Kezar Stadium, he'll be working his split T magic behind a line averaging 214 pounds.

Hornung's college coach, Terry Frennan, heads the staff for the East and many observers expect the club to stick rather close to the ground. In the backfield with Hornung are Abe Woodson of Illinois, Terry Barr of Michigan and Ray Alberigi of Penn State, all hard hitting runners.

West strategy for the game, which will be televised and broadcast by NBC starting at 4:45 p.m. (EST) apparently will be to go around and over.

Coach Buck Shaw, formerly of the San Francisco 49ers and now of the Air Force Academy, worked

CINCINNATI (AP)—A disciplinary suspension voted by their teammates will keep Hamilton High School's three top scorers out of action in the opening game of the Tri-State Invitational tonight.

Hamilton Coach Warren Scholler said Thursday that Paul Riggins and the Blaine brothers, Tony and Larry, have been benched for the game with Aurora, Ind.

Scholler said the nine other members of the team voted to suspend the trio for missing practice, being late for workouts and other infractions.

quez of Mexico City, clash tonight in a nationally televised fight regarded by rival camps as a stepping stone to big matches.

Rosi, a hard-hitter who is also effective as a counter-puncher, is an 8-5 favorite to win because of his ability to land a good blow with either hand. He has a record of 23 victories in 26 starts.

Vasquez, the Mexican lightweight champion, has won 45 and lost 12. The match will be televised nationally at 10 p. m.

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—Howard Mayes of Huntington, W. Va., will sell Ravenrock airport, four miles from here, for farmland. Ravenrock was ruled obsolete by the federal government because of landing dangers to aircraft and because of flood susceptibility.

Giants Pilot Plotting for Title Contest

NEW YORK (AP)—Coach Jim Howell of the New York Giants isn't one to reveal his secrets but he took time out today to announce some of his plans to contain the Chicago Bears in Sunday's National Football League championship game.

His main problem is to stop backfield star Rick Casares and end Earl Hill, probably the two big offensive threats of the Bears.

"Well," he said, "we have about 12 basic defenses with variations off them to suit individual situations."

"Of course, we could double up on Casares or Hill. But then we would leave a fine runner like Bobby Watkins or pass receiver like Jim Dooley lightly guarded."

Howell said that the Giants would use some new variations of their basic defenses to suit what they have been able to learn about the Bears from first-hand knowledge and scouting reports.

"But," he laughed, "it's a vicious circle. They will have to put in new variations of their offense

Pro Cage Standings Drawing Closer

NEW YORK (AP)—Only two games separated the four teams in the Western division of the National Basketball Assn. today. And the Fort Wayne Pistons, division champs, apparently have begun making their move.

The Pistons moved into second place Thursday night by trouncing the Minneapolis Lakers 120-93. The triumph put them only a half game behind pacesetter Rochester which dropped a 97-92 decision to the Boston Celtics.

In other games, the St. Louis Hawks beat the Syracuse Nats 102-95 and Philadelphia walloped New York 112-87.

and we'll have to cope with them as we go along."

What about the "soft" conditioning he has been giving the club leading up to the all-important game? The Giants have worked only five days since their last regular-season game on Dec. 15.

"We haven't worked hard because we feel we are ready," Howell answered. "We didn't take all those Gays off because we felt the Bears were not good. Except for us we think they're the best in the league."

Stully-Giffin Wedding Vows Are Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stully of Milford Center are announcing the marriage of their daughter Aveline, to Mr. Donald Giffin, son of Mrs. Warner Penrod of this city.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bridegroom's mother, at 2:30 in the afternoon, Sunday, December 23rd, with Rev. Don McMillin, minister of the First Christian Church in this city, officiating.

A lovely fireplace, decorated with poinsettias and lighted tapers in crystal holders at either end of the mantel, afforded the background for the wedding vows, and the bride was very attractive in a white waltz length formal of nylon net, interwoven with silver threads throughout the very full skirt. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations with white satin streamers atop a white Bible.

Miss Jean Sword, maid of honor, wore a street length dress of white faille, trimmed in black velvet, with a very full skirt, and her corsage was of red and white carnations. Mr. Darrell Hunter of this city served as best man.

Mrs. Stully, mother of the bride, chose a French blue faille dress including black accessories, and Mrs. Penrod was attired in a navy blue and white nylon lace afternoon dress, with navy blue accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of red and white carnations.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held and the bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth with an arrangement of poinsettias and white lighted tapers in silver candelabras. Atop the two tiered wedding cake was a miniature bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Warner Penrod presided at the reception.

The new Mrs. Giffin is a graduate of Clarksburg High School and will continue her position at the J. C. Penney Co. in this city, and the bridegroom is employed at the Whitfield Manufacturing Co. in this city.

They are at home to their many friends in their newly furnished apartment, 429½ Broadway.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were sisters of the bride, Bertha and Harriet Stully, and a brother Calvin Stully, of Milford Center; Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Giffin, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Giffin of Grove City, Mr. John McCormick of New Holland, Miss Rutl. Dickey and Miss Sue Richards of Clarksburg, and Sharron and Johnnie Penrod, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

Davis-Miller Vows Exchanged Thursday

MRS. ELLIS ERVIN MILLER

A dignified and impressive ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, united in marriage Miss Dinah Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Grove Davis of the Greenfield Road and Mr. Ellis Ervin Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Parrett Miller, of the Prairie Road, two families prominent in the community.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. Neil Hand and was preceded by a half hour of music with Mrs. Marion Gage at the organ and Mr. James Michael, soloist. Mrs. Gage played the "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor", "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and the "Chorale: All Praise to Jesus Hallowed Name", all by Bach and the "Pastorale from Christmas Concerto" by Corelli. Mr. Michael sang, "To You", Richard Strauss; "When I Have Sung My Songs", Ernest Charles; and "You Will Know My Love", Milan Skiles.

The chancel of the church was banked with Christmas trees and Emerald fern, with eight tall standards of seven-branch candelabra holding lighted white candles which provided a beautiful background for the lovely bride and her attractive attendants. As the strains of the Bridal March from Lohengrin sounded, the bride, a picture of piquant beauty and loveliness, approached on the arm of her father wearing the ivory satin wedding dress with short train, high neckline and long pointed sleeves which had been worn by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lillie Grove Davis. Her veil was three-tiered of rose point and Belgian lace which had been brought from Belgium by the great-great aunt of the groom, Mrs. Orville Rowe Weinmann, and worn by his mother, Mrs. Miller.

3 Color-Packed Football Games Due Saturday

Georgia Tech-Pitt Contest To Vie in First of Bowl Tilts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The fine teams of Georgia Tech and Pitt together with senior stars from most of the big schools that didn't draw a postseason assignment play in three games Saturday as college football throws the first of its New Year's holiday parties.

Tech and Pitt meet in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., in a rematch of last New Year's Sugar Bowl.

The all-star seniors are divided the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., and the 32nd annual Shrine East-West game in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

All three will be broadcast and telecast, with CBS handling the Gator Bowl beginning at 1:45 p.m. EST, and NBC doing the Blue-Gray at 1:45 followed by the East-West at 4:45.

The Jan. 1 program will be headed by the Big Four — Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, Cotton Bowl at Dallas and Orange Bowl at Miami.

Coach Bobby Dodd has taken seven Georgia Tech teams bowling and has won them all, including the last three years in succession. Both Tech and Pitt are packed with veterans from last January's Sugar Bowl game, in which Tech scored the only touchdown after a disputed pass interference play in the end zone.

The Rebels, with a 12-5 edge in the series so far, are 6-point favorites over the North for Montgomery's Blue-Gray annual. Jim Tatum of North Carolina is head coach for the Grays, who boast such aces as Mackie Prickett of South Carolina, Howell Tubbs of Auburn, Jack Pardee of Texas A&M and LSU's Earl Leggett.

Blue coach Don Faurot, who recently ended his career at Missouri, has a couple of dandy passers in Purdue's Lennie Dawson and Missouri's Jim Hunter.

The East-West lineup is just as star-spangled with such name players around as Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, Terry Barr of Michigan, Abe Woodson of Illinois Jim Parker and Bill Michael of Ohio State, Sam Valentine of Penn State and Navy's Wilson Whitmire of the East matched against the likes of the West's John Brodie of Stanford, Jon Arnett of Southern California, Bill Prier of Oklahoma, Jim Crawford of Wyoming, Paul Wiggins of Stanford and Jack Hill of Utah State.

Buck Shaw, now of the Air Force Academy, coaches the West and Notre Dame's Terry Brennan the East, who rates a slight favorite.

Probe of AAU Seen by Allen

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Phog Allen, former basketball coach at the University of Kansas, said Thursday night a non-profit foundation is being set up to delve into the Amateur Athletic Union's handling of American participation in the Olympic Games.

"You'll be hearing a lot about it during the next few weeks," he said. "I'm not at liberty to say more right now. The trouble has always been that nobody does anything about the AAU in the four years between Olympics."

Chaminade Downs Blue Lions, 63-52

Too much height was the principal factor in the 63 to 52 loss of the Washington C. H. High School cagers at Dayton Chaminade Thursday night.

The Lions had trouble getting started against the Chaminade defense, which shifted from a zone to pressing man - to - man guarding. But, once they got going they played on almost even terms with the Daytonians. It was the 8-point (14-6) lead the Chaminade boys took in the first period that hurt the Lions most.

After outscoring their opponents 13-12 in the second period, the half ended with the Lions trailing by only 7 points.

But, when the teams came back from the intermission, the Daytonians stretched their advantage to 11 points and, although the Lions staged a rally that whittled the Chaminade margin to 5 points with less than three minutes to play, the ball-hawking Daytonians got three quick baskets and played a tight possession game until the final whistle to win by 11 points.

TOM SWAIN, usually one of the high-scoring Lions, was blocked effectively by the Chaminade defense around the basket and held to one field goal and 4 free throws.

But, while the Daytonians were concentrating on Swain, Larry Miltstead slipped through to hit 8 field goals and lead the Lion scoring with 18 points.

Dick English, the WHS long range sharpshooter, got only a couple from far out and two jump shots from the side against the pressing Chaminade defense.

There was nothing the matter with the WHS passing and floor game, but the taller Dayton boys were getting most of the rebounds as they controlled the bankboards, especially during the early part of the game.

THE LIONS used both a zone and man-to-man defense as they tried to cope with the unerring accuracy of John Matlock, who led his team with 25 points.

The defeat was the fourth of the season for the Lions. They have won three games, two of them from SCO League opponents, Wilmington and Hillsboro. One of their four defeats was to Circleville, considered the team to beat in the SCO.

Their next game is with another SCO team, at Greenfield Jan. 4.

The WHS Reserves were frozen out, 46 to 41, by Chaminade in the preliminary. Southworth and Carter paced the WHS attack with 11 points apiece. Stillings provided the thrills, however, when he came through with 9 points in the last period.

Hornung Set To Team with Husky Line

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, the 1956 Heisman Trophy winner, gets his chance to operate behind a big, experienced line Saturday when he guides the East against the West in the 32nd annual Shrine charity football game.

Hornung started with a losing Irish club that suffered from inexperience this past season but nevertheless proved an individual standout and was the pro bonus choice of the Green Bay Packers.

In the All-Star game at Kezar Stadium, he'll be working his split T magic behind a line averaging 214 pounds.

Hornung's college coach, Terry Frennan, heads the staff for the East and many observers expect the club to stick rather close to the ground. In the backfield with Hornung are Abe Woodson of Illinois, Terry Barr of Michigan and Ray Alberigi of Penn State, all hard hitting runners.

West strategy for the game, which will be televised and broadcast by NBC starting at 4:45 p.m. (EST) apparently will be to go around and over.

Coach Buck Shaw, formerly of the San Francisco 49ers and now of the Air Force Academy, worked

Hamilton Cagers Bench Own Stars

CINCINNATI (AP) — A disciplinary suspension voted by their teammates will keep Hamilton High School's three top scorers out of action in the opening game of the Tri-State Invitational tonight.

Hamilton Coach Warren Scholler said Thursday that Paul Higgins and the Blaine brothers, Tony and Larry, have been benched for the game with Aurora, Ind.

Scholler said the nine other members of the team voted to suspend the trio for missing practices, being late for workouts and other infractions.

on a pro-type offense utilizing the passing of Stanford's John Brodie and the running of Southern California's Jon Arnett.

Giants Pilot Plotting for Title Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Jim Howell of the New York Giants isn't one to reveal his secrets but he took time out today to announce some of his plans to contain the Chicago Bears in Sunday's National Football League championship game.

His main problem is to stop backfield star Rick Casares and end Harlon Hill, probably the two big offensive threats of the Bears. "Well," he said, "we have about 12 basic defenses with variations off them to suit individual situations."

"Of course, we could double up on Casares or Hill. But then we would leave a fine runner like Bobby Watkins or pass receiver like Jim Dooley lightly guarded."

Howell said that the Giants would use some new variations of their basic defenses to suit what they have been able to learn about the Bears from first-hand knowledge and scouting reports.

"But," he laughed, "it's a vicious circle. They will have to put in new variations of their offense

Pro Cage Standings Drawing Closer

NEW YORK (AP) — Only two games separated the four teams in the Western division of the National Basketball Assn. today. And the Fort Wayne Pistons, division champs, apparently have begun making their move.

The Pistons moved into second place Thursday night by trouncing the Minneapolis Lakers 120-93. The triumph put them only a half game behind pace-setting Rochester which dropped a 97-92 decision to the Boston Celtics.

In other games, the St. Louis Hawks beat the Syracuse Nats 102-95 and Philadelphia walloped New York 112-87.

and we'll have to cope with them as we go along."

What about the "soft" conditioning he has been giving the club leading up to the all-important game? The Giants have worked only five days since their last regular-season game on Dec. 15.

"We haven't worked hard because we feel we are ready," Howell answered. "We didn't take all those days off because we felt the Bears were not good. Except for us we think they're the best in the league."

The Washington LUMBER CO.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

City Fireman Raymond Stephens, who is also proprietor of the Stephens Barber Shop in the Fayette Hotel Block (where he spends "off days") is also a magician of considerable prominence and has a hobby in identifying automobile license plates.

He can tell instantly which county in this part of the state a car is from because he knows to which counties the various letters are assigned.

He probably can identify licenses from 20 different counties, having made a study of it for years.

Frequently during the warm months when the firemen are sitting in front of the fire house, he notes passing cars and can tell at once where they are from.

For instance, he was able to say positively that most of the great number of cars headed north on Fayette St., past the city building Tuesday afternoon were from Montgomery County, the drivers being headed back toward Dayton after spending the day with relatives southeast of here.

That reminds me that Steve and his wife left Wednesday night for 15 days at Miami, Fla., to visit relatives, take a few dips in the ocean, and soak up some of the warmth and sunshine for which Miami is famous.

The Stephens left Cincinnati by plane at 11:25 p. m. Wednesday and at 2:25 a. m. Thursday landed in Miami, after only three hours in the air. That is just one example of getting places in a hurry, made possible by the fast flying planes.

MADE OWN DYES

Pioneer housewives did not depend upon the Germans or anyone else, to furnish them with dyes for coloring their wool and linen so that it would produce colorful clothing instead of the drab colors that otherwise would result.

They looked about them to see what nature provided, and came up with many beautiful colors, which were just about as lasting as the famous German aniline dyes such as were smuggled into America by submarine just before the U. S. got into World War I.

Some of the things they used and the colors produced were poke weed berries for blue, walnut hulls and bark for brown; yellow root or golden seal, and cellulene poppy for yellow, blood root for a light red, and a few other herbs and shrubs for various colors.

"METEORITE" FALLS IN CITY
Some 50 or 60 years ago considerable excitement was created with announcement that a meteorite had fallen in the city.

The report was that the meteorite had struck a tree near the intersection of Main and Temple Sts. The tree stood on the south side of Temple St., some 15 feet west of the sidewalk on the west side of Main.

Years after the incident, I talked with a man who recalled the affair, and he informed me that a thunderstorm was hovering over the city at the time, and that there was no question in his mind but what the "meteorite" was nothing more or less than a bolt of lightning.

WHERE IS HAL TAYLOR?

Attorney Charles Hire is seeking the whereabouts of Hal Taylor, who formerly had an office over the Murphy Store on Court St., and left the city a few years ago.

Taylor was a witness to a will and for that reason Hire is seeking his whereabouts.

OWNS RARE OLD CLOCK

One of the most beautiful, unusual, and valuable clocks of the grandfather type in this part of the state, is owned by Heber Roe, and it never fails to attract attention in his jewelry store here.

The clock stands 10 feet, 3 inches in height, the body, with glass front and sides is 18 inches across, the largest part of the base is 30 inches across, and it is replete with hand engraved feminine faces, leaves, shells, rosettes and other designs, showing remarkable skill.

The woodwork is solid walnut, with an abundance of beautiful burl trim.

The compensated pendulum, of brass and steel, has a 12 1/2 inch bob which weighs 25 pounds.

It has quarter hour chimes, and 1 1/2 minutes after it strikes the hour it repeats the strike so if those hearing the first striking did not learn the time, they have another chance to count the strokes. The big clock has a sweep second hand which travels about the dial once every minute. Three brass weights provide power for the chimes, striking and time.

The extraordinary clock was originally purchased by R. M. Wills, jeweler, who later sold it to Mr. Fishback, jeweler here for years, and who in turn sold it to Bert Ellis when Bert operated a small store located where the south window of the Penney Store is now located.

Heber bought the clock from Bert when he purchased Bert's business in 1924, and moved from the Harry Anthony room on Main St. where Bert was located for some time after his store room was sold.

Heber moved to his present location in the Hays block in 1925, and has refused attractive offers for the clock, but states positively that it is not for sale.

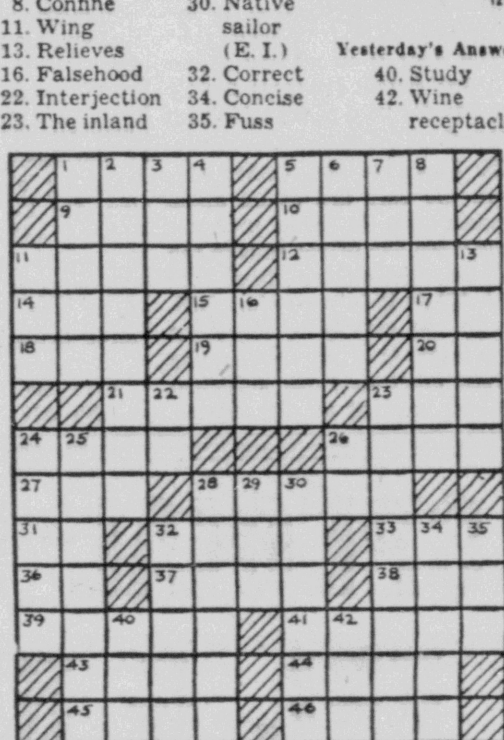

WILL ATTEND GAMES

Several Fayette Countians will attend the Orange Bowl game in Florida, when Colorado U meets North Carolina U in what promises to be a hard fought game on the gridiron.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Chakeres and family, Columbus Rd., and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stephens will be among the big crowd attending the game.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Temperature Expected To Drop in Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More winterish temperatures are just ahead for Ohioans, the weather bureau predicted today.

Here is its five-day forecast: "Temperatures will average about 8 degrees below normal; normal high 35 north to 40 south; normal low 21-24. Colder Saturday and Sunday, warming a little Monday or Tuesday, colder again Wednesday. Precipitation will average less than one-tenth inch in snow flurries Saturday and rain or snow about Monday and Wednesday."

It was wet and chilly today in most northern areas from the midwest into New England. Generally fair weather prevailed in most other parts of the country.

The cold air which moved into the northern Great Lakes region Thursday extended into the north-eastern Ohio Valley during the night, bringing snow flurries in the northern Great Lakes. Temperatures were in the teens and 20s.

Snow or snow flurries continued during the night from Pennsylvania to New England. South of the cold air, snow and rain fell in the middle Mississippi Valley, extending into northern Illinois.

Only other wet spot was in the Northern Plains, which reported light snow. Fog continued in the northwest, and it was generally fair in the southwest.

Skies were clear over most of the southern half of the country. Warmer weather was indicated in Florida and sections of the south Atlantic Coastal states.

Madison Grange Meets After Potluck

Madison Good Will Grange held its regular meeting Wednesday night following a potluck supper which is annual December event. Roger Hayes, overseer, presided in the absence of Hershel Pendleton, regular master.

A net gain of 12 members was reported for the year, and the Grange received $1.50 for each new member from the Grange Mutual Casualty Co. as a part of the Grange Membership Development Program.

The group voted to assist Pomona Grange in a proposed Farm-City Program — a get-together meeting of Fayette Grangers and their city friends. Plans were made for a card party and for the re-binding of an old Bible which the group inherited from a predecessor Grange.

In lieu of the Christmas gift exchange, each member donated 50 cents to the Magnetic Springs Polio Center for a total of $13.50. The lecture hour consisted of readings by Mrs. Eugene Grimm and Mrs. Roger Hayes, along with games and songs.

The newly organized Juvenile Grange voted to enter the candy-making contest sponsored by the Ohio State Grange, made a $2 contribution to the Polio Center and purchased a Bible and a flag for their room.

Spiritual Leader Of EUB Church Dies in Accident

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — The spiritual leader of 125,000 members of the Evangelical United Brethren Church was killed Thursday night in a traffic accident that also claimed the lives of his wife and a Cincinnati man.

Dead were Bishop and Mrs. D.T. Gregory of Pittsburgh, and Floyd Lovell, 50, of Cincinnati.

Bishop Gregory, 66, and his wife, 65, were returning to their Pittsburgh home after spending Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Thelma Jackson of Dayton. Lovell, a part-time employee of the Avis Trucking Co., was delivering a truck from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati when it was involved in a collision with the Bishop's car on U. S. 40 about six miles east of here.

Bishop Gregory and his wife were natives of Martinsburg, W. Va., where they will be interred after funeral services in Dayton. Bishop Gregory was resident bishop of the east central area of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Mac Dews Sr., Washington C. H. realtor, has been appointed a member of the 1957 constitution and bylaws committee of the Ohio Assn. of Real Estate Boards, according to Harold E. Foster, president-elect of the state group.

First meeting of the committee will be held Jan. 10 at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel in Columbus and will be followed by the quarterly meeting of the OAREB board of directors which Dews will attend.

Dews has been a member of the Ohio association for the past 16 years. He has held every office in the Tri-County Real Estate Board which is made up of realtors from Fayette, Highland and Clinton counties.

Ironton Man Held after Inlaw Killed

IRONTON (AP)—Hiram Willis, 42, was held in the Lawrence County jail today, accused of shooting his brother-in-law and wounding a deputy sheriff.

The shooting took place about 7 a. m. today at Willis' home on the New Castle pike two miles west of here.

Sheriff Carl E. Rose reported that Willis' sister, Mrs. William Barrett, had called the sheriff's office saying her brother, apparently ill, had been "pounding his head" against the floor.

Deputy sheriffs Don Butler and William Moore went to the scene, and with the brother-in-law, William Barrett, gained entrance to Willis' house. Deputies said Willis shot Barrett as he entered the house, killing him, and then wounded Moore, a son-in-law of Sheriff Rose.

Willis surrendered several hours later, after Moore had been taken to General Hospital here and Barrett's body removed from the house.

Moore was shot in the right side, and his condition is fair.

Physicians were scheduled to examine Willis later today. The sheriff reported he would not file charges in the case until an investigation is completed.

Purse-Snatcher Works from Auto

CHICAGO (AP)—Police are hunting for a new type of purse snatcher, who they said used perfect timing to commit his thievery.

Miss Mildred Frohman, 45, a clerk, told police she was in the middle of a street Thursday night when she stopped for a motorist to pass.

The driver slowed the car as he approached her, suddenly stuck out his hand, snatched her purse and increased his speed. Miss Frohman said the purse contained $3.50 in cash, some checks and three 25 government bonds.

'All-America' Titles Handed To 11 Cities

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten cities in the United States and one in Alaska were named today as the year's All-America cities in the annual contest conducted by the National Municipal League and Look Magazine.

Anchorage, Alaska, one of the winners, is the first city outside the continental United States to be named for the honor since the awards were established eight years ago.

Anchorage, Altus, Okla., and Torrance, Calif., were named for successfully tackling skyrocketing population growth that threatened to swamp city facilities.

Brattleboro, Vt., was selected for overwhelming citizen support that went into creating the Brattleboro living memorial park.

St. Louis, Mo., and Zanesville, Ohio, were honored because the "citizens banded together to change a do-nothing attitude and reverse the tide of seediness and decay creeping over their towns."

Springfield, Mo., was selected because the people "were jolted awake in 1952 by a discovery of bribery in city government, and put up a fight to clean house, vote in council — manager government and install improvements."

Elgin, Ill., was named because citizens "took action against inefficiency and, in a bitterly fought campaign also won a council-manager plan for their city."

Tacoma, Wash., another winner, citizens "faced up in 1952 to a spectacular problem of vice. With the Army threatening to put the entire city 'out of bounds,' embattled citizens voted in an effective government, and later beat an underworld syndicate which tried to kill it."

Columbus Woman Held in Check Case

Mrs. George Tunneyhill, 24, Columbus, was bound over the grand jury under $500 bond after she pleaded not guilty in Municipal Court Friday morning to raising a check from $10 to $90.

The charge was filed by Joe Evans, proprietor of the Evans Supermarket in Bloomingburg, nearly a year and a half ago.

The check, purportedly signed by Edwin W. Boyer, was on the Lagonda National Bank of Springfield. It was dated July 30, 1955.

Mrs. Tunneyhill had been sought by Sheriff Orland Hays ever since the affidavit was filed. He located her in Columbus, where she was arrested earlier in the week. The sheriff and Mrs. Hays brought her from Columbus early this morning for arraignment in court here.

Extra Vigilance Needed To Maintain City's Traffic Record, Chief Says

Although Ohio shows a slight improvement in traffic deaths compared to 1955 Chief of Police Vaiden Long points out that the improvement has been shown entirely on rural state highways. Traffic deaths in cities are 10 percent higher than last year; there have been 14 per cent more accidents and 16 per cent more people injured in urban traffic.

Washington C. H. is fortunate that it has had no fatal accidents within the city limits since Oct. 17, 1948, but it requires extra vigilance to maintain that record, the officer points out.

The greatest number of traffic collisions occur between 4 and 5 p. m. with 5 to 6 p. m. very closely behind, 3 to 4 p. m. is in third spot, but considerably fewer collisions occur in this period, then in the hours immediately following.

Chief Long said that pedestrian vehicles, collisions with fixed objects and non-collision accidents lead the list of accident types during January. The first two are more prominent in cities although many vehicles do collide with poles and other objects in town when the going is slippery.

THE CHILD between the ages of 5 and 9 produces more than his share of the pedestrian injuries. He is injured most frequently at intersections and when he is jaywalking, crossing in the middle of the block. This isn't surprising because these youngsters commonly run in to the street. They are seldom seen to stop and look both ways, except in the vicinity of schools where the school patrol more or less enforces that procedure. The second big group of pedestrian injuries at intersections involve persons over 45 years of age. The second large group of jaywalkers are those who are under 5 years old.

Chief Long said "I can't urge too strongly that parents exercise greater supervision over their children and make sure that they are well trained in the safe way of crossing streets. It is best that the child be taught to stop at the curb, count to four, look both ways and not enter the street until there is an assured clear space that would allow him to cross in safety."

It is a good idea to give him a landmark so that if a car is nearer to him than Jones' house or that tree in Brown's yard, he knows that he hasn't enough space to make the crossing without hazard.

The elder folks who are involved in pedestrian accidents either have failed to judge the speed of the approaching car properly or have not maintained the lookout that is necessary.

many people who are 50 years of age and over have no experience with the modern motor car. They are unaware how rapidly a vehicle can cover ground, and they do not appreciate the distance it takes to stop a car even at 20 miles an hour. Their tendency is to allow less space than necessary for the crossing of the street. Many do not realize that it takes longer for them to cross the street now than it did a few years ago.

The motorist must not assume that the pedestrian is aware of him and will do what he should to assist in avoiding a collision. The motorist must be ready to stop when he sees a pedestrian on the thoroughfare.

Collisions between motor vehicles fall into four main categories: Head-on collisions, rear-end, where the cars are entering an intersection at an angle to each other and where one vehicle is entering the drive or an alley.

Chief Long said that it is not surprising that there are so many head-on collisions. "You notice the number of vehicles that fail to stay to the right of the center line. In a large measure this is the result of inattention on the part of the driver. But, all too often it is the result of unnecessary haste. Some people just can't wait their turn, they have to attempt to sneak around anything that is in front of them, and when you get two characters of that variety on the same street at the same moment, a head-on collision is likely."

A GOOD SHARE of the rear-end collisions result from inadequate space between cars. People get the habit of driving bumper to bumper and whenever anything requires the leading car to check speed there is a tangle. During the winter season, when traction is less than is desirable, additional space between cars is necessary at any speed and double alertness for any change in the rate of travel of traffic ahead.

The intersection accidents where the cars are at an angle to each other in large measure occur when one driver fails to see the car approaching from his right. While it is somewhat difficult to see clearly to the right if the angle is a bit sharp, many drivers don't exercise sufficient caution, look out alertly enough, to be certain that the way is clear before they enter.

All too often they assume that it is clear because they can't see anything with a brief glimpse. At unmarked intersections the vehicle approaching on the right usually has the right of way, but it is a rare thing to see that vehicle given that right without a contest.

Collisions where one of the vehicles is entering an alley or driveway result in large measure from the habit of not signalling for turns. Many drivers signal a left turn, but only a fraction of those turning right give any advance indication that they expect to do that. The habit of following too close enters this type of accident also. The following car usually is too close to check his speed when the turning car slows down to make its turn, or the following car attempts to swing left. There is not space enough and he clips the rear of the turning car.

ALL OF THESE factors add up to a great need for extra caution by the driving public during January. Traction and visibility are such that there isn't much time to do the proper thing. Once an emergency is seen, and with the prevailing road conditions things can't be done suddenly.

Chief Long reminds all drivers that Ohio law requires that a vehicle be operated at such a speed that it can be stopped in the assured clear distance ahead. That distance is never greater than the space that separates your car from the nearest one to it.

Particular care must be exercised on frosty mornings, but remember that the worst hours are those of the early evening. Folks are tired then, in a hurry to get home, and conditions are poor. Take it easy between 3 p. m. and 6 p. m. and arrive safely to enjoy your dinner and an evening with your family.

3 Navy Enlistees Leave for Ft. Hayes

Donald J. Fox, 17, Richard O. Conrod, 18, and Arnold E. Clay, 20, who enlisted in the Navy here, left Friday morning for the Ft. Hayes armed forces examination station at Columbus for their physical examinations.

Fox is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Fox, 602 Rawlings St.; Conrod is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn R. Conrod, of Route 3, and Clay is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Clay, Route 1.

According to Chief Philip G. Lee, in charge of the Navy recruiting station here, the three men, if they pass their physical examinations, will be sent to Bainbridge, Md., for their boot training. Lee pointed out that since all three were members of Co. M of the Ohio National Guard, they were enlisted in the Navy with rates corresponding with those they held in the Guard. Lee said that their time spent in the Guard will count also for pay purposes in the Navy.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

City Fireman Raymond Stephens, who is also proprietor of the Stephens Barber Shop in the Fayette Hotel Block (where he spends "off days") is also a magician of considerable prominence and has a hobby in identifying automobile license plates.

He can tell instantly which county in this part of the state a car is from because he knows to which counties the various letters are assigned.

He probably can identify license plates from 20 different counties, having made a study of it for years.

Frequently during the warm months when the firemen are sitting in front of the fire house, he notes passing cars and can tell at once where they are from.

For instance, he was able to say positively that most of the great number of cars headed north on Fayette St., past the city building Tuesday afternoon were from Montgomery County, the drivers being headed back toward Dayton after spending the day with relatives southeast of here.

That reminds me that Stevie and his wife left Wednesday night for 15 days at Miami, Fla., to visit relatives, take a few dips in the ocean, and soak up the warmth and sunshine for which Miami is famous.

The Stephens left Cincinnati by plane at 11:25 p. m. Wednesday and at 2:25 a. m. Thursday landed in Miami, after only three hours in the air. That is just one example of getting places in a hurry, made possible by the fast flying planes.

MADE OWN DYES

Pioneer housewives did not depend upon the Germans or anyone else, to furnish them with dyes for coloring their wool and linen so that it would produce colorful clothing instead of the drab colors that otherwise would result.

They looked about them to see what nature provided, and came up with many beautiful colors, which were just about as lasting as the famous German aniline dyes such as were smuggled into America by submarine just before the U. S. got into World War I.

Some of the things they used and the colors produced were: poke weed berries for blue, walnut hulls and bark for brown; yellow root or golden seal, and celendine poppy for yellow, blood root for a light red, and a few other herbs and shrubs for various colors.

"METEORITE" FALLS IN CITY
Some 50 or 60 years ago considerable excitement was created with announcement that a meteorite had fallen in the city.

The report was that the meteorite had struck a tree near the intersection of Main and Temple Sts. The tree stood on the south side of Temple St., some 15 feet west of the sidewalk on the west side of Main.

Years after the incident, I talked with a man who recalled the affair, and he informed me that a thunderstorm was hovering over the city at the time, and that there was no question in his mind but what the "meteorite" was nothing more or less than a bolt of lightning.

WHERE IS HAL TAYLOR?

Attorney Charles Hire is seeking the whereabouts of Hal Taylor, who formerly had an office over the Murphy Store on Court St., and left the city a few years ago.

Taylor was a witness to a will and for that reason Hire is seeking his whereabouts.

OWNS RARE OLD CLOCK

One of the most beautiful, unusual, and valuable clocks of the grandfather type in this part of the state, is owned by Heber Roe, and it never fails to attract attention in his jewelry store here.

The clock stands 10 feet, 3 inches in height, the body, with glass front and sides is 18 inches across, the largest part of the base is 30 inches across, and it is replete with hand engraved feminine faces, leaves, shells, rosetts and other designs, showing remarkable skill.

The woodwork is solid walnut, with an abundance of beautiful burl trim.

The compensated pendulum, of brass and steel, has a 12½ inch bob which weighs 25 pounds.

It has quarter hour chimes, and 1½ minutes after it strikes the hour it repeats the strike so if those hearing the first striking did not learn the time, they have another chance to count the strokes. The big clock has a sweep second hand which travels about the dial once every minute. Three brass weights provide power for the chimes, striking and time.

The extraordinary clock was originally purchased by R. M. Wills, jeweler, who later sold it to Mr. Fishback, jeweler here for years, and who in turn sold it to Bert Ellis when Bert operated a small store located where the south window of the Penney Store is now located.

Heber bought the clock from Bert when he purchased Bert's business in 1924, and moved from the Harry Anthony room on Main St. where Bert was located for some time after his store room was sold.

Heber moved to his present location in the Hays block in 1925, and has refused attractive offers for the clock, but states positively that it is not for sale.

WILL ATTEND GAMES

Several Fayette Countians will attend the Orange Bowl game in Florida, when Colorado U meets North Carolina U in what promises to be a hard fought game on the gridiron.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Chakeres and family, Columbus Rd., and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stephens will be among the big crowd attending the game.

Temperature Expected To Drop in Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More wintry temperatures are just ahead for Ohioans, the weather bureau predicted today.

Here is its five-day forecast:
"Temperatures will average about 8 degrees below normal; normal high 35 north to 40 south; normal low 21-24. Colder Saturday and Sunday, warming a little Monday or Tuesday, colder again Wednesday. Precipitation will average less than one-tenth inch in snow flurries Saturday and rain or snow about Monday and Wednesday."

It was wet and chilly today in most northern areas from the mid-west into New England. Generally fair weather prevailed in most other parts of the country.

The cold air which moved into the northern Great Lakes region Thursday extended into the northeastern Ohio Valley during the night, bringing snow flurries in the northern Great Lakes. Temperatures were in the teens and 20s.

Snow or snow flurries continued during the night from Pennsylvania to New England. South of the cold air, snow and rain fell in the middle Mississippi Valley, extending into northern Illinois.

Only other wet spot was in the Northern Plains, which reported light snow. Fog continued in the northwest, and it was generally fair in the southwest.

Skies were clear over most of the southern half of the country. Warmer weather was indicated in Florida and sections of the south Atlantic Coastal states.

Madison Grange Meets After Potluck

Madison Good Will Grange held its regular meeting Wednesday night following a potluck supper which is annual December event. Roger Hayes, overseer, presided in the absence of Hershel Pendleton, regular master.

A net gain of 12 members was reported for the year, and the Grange received $1.50 for each new member from the Grange Mutual Casualty Co. as a part of the Grange Membership Development Program.

The group voted to assist Pomona Grange in a proposed Farm City Program — a get-together meeting of Fayette Grangers and their city friends. Plans were made for a card party and for the re-binding of an old Bible which the group inherited from a predecessor Grange.

In lieu of the Christmas gift exchange, each member donated 50 cents to the Magnetic Springs Polio Center for a total of $13.50. The lecture hour consisted of readings by Mrs. Eugene Grimm and Mrs. Roger Hayes, along with games and songs.

The newly organized Juvenile Grange voted to enter the candy-making contest sponsored by the Ohio State Grange, made a $2 contribution to the Polio Center and purchased a Bible and a flag for their room.

Spiritual Leader Of EUB Church Dies in Accident

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — The spiritual leader of 125,000 members of the Evangelical United Brethren Church was killed Thursday night in a traffic accident that also claimed the lives of his wife and a Cincinnati man.

Dead were Bishop and Mrs. D.T. Gregory of Pittsburgh, and Floyd Lovell, 50, of Cincinnati.

Bishop Gregory, 66, and his wife, 65, were returning to their Pittsburgh home after spending Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Thelma Jackson of Dayton. Lovell, a part-time employee of the Avis Trucking Co., was delivering a truck from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati when it was involved in a collision with the Bishop's car on U. S. 40 about six miles east of here.

Bishop Gregory and his wife were natives of Martinsburg, W. Va., where they will be interred after funeral services in Dayton. Bishop Gregory was resident bishop of the east central area of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Mac Dews Sr. Named to Ohio Realtor Panel

Mac Dews Sr., Washington C. H. realtor, has been appointed a member of the 1957 constitution and bylaws committee of the Ohio Assn. of Real Estate Boards, according to Harold E. Foster, president-elect of the state group.

First meeting of the committee will be held Jan. 10 at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel in Columbus and will be followed by the quarterly meeting of the OAREB board of directors which Dews will attend.

Dews has been a member of the Ohio association for the past 16 years. He has held every office in the Tri-County Real Estate Board which is made up of realtors from Fayette, Highland and Clinton counties.

Ironton Man Held after Inlaw Killed

IRONTON (AP)—Hiram Willis, 42, was held in the Lawrence County jail today, accused of shooting his brother-in-law and wounding a deputy sheriff.

The shooting took place about 7 a. m. today at Willis' home on the New Castle pike two miles west of here.

Sheriff Carl E. Rose reported that Willis' sister, Mrs. William Barrett, had called the sheriff's office saying her brother, apparently ill, had been "pounding his head" against the floor.

Deputy sheriffs Don Butler and William Moore went to the scene, and with the brother-in-law, William Barrett, gained entrance to Willis' house. Deputies said Willis shot Barrett as he entered the house, killing him, and then wounding Moore, a son-in-law of Sheriff Rose.

Willis surrendered several hours later, after Moore had been taken to General Hospital here and Barrett's body removed from the house.

Moore was shot in the right side, and his condition is fair.

Physicians were scheduled to examine Willis later today. The sheriff reported he would not file charges in the case until an investigation is completed.

Purse-Snatcher Works from Auto

CHICAGO (AP)—Police are hunting for a new type of purse snatcher, who they said used perfect timing to commit his thievery.

Miss Mildred Frohman, 45, a clerk, told police she was in the middle of a street Thursday night when she stopped for a motorist to pass.

The driver slowed the car as he approached her, suddenly stuck out his hand, snatched her purse and increased his speed. Miss Frohman said the purse contained $3.50 in cash, some checks and three 25 government bonds.

'All-America' Titles Handed To 11 Cities

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten cities in the United States and one in Alaska were named today as the year's All-America cities in the annual contest conducted by the National Municipal League and Look Magazine.

Anchorage, Alaska, one of the winners, is the first city outside the continental United States to be named for the honor since the awards were established eight years ago.

Anchorage, Altus, Okla., and Torrance, Calif., were named for successfully tackling skyrocketing population growth that threatened to swamp city facilities.

Brattleboro, Vt., was selected for overwhelming citizen support that went into creating the Brattleboro living memorial park.

St. Louis, Mo., and Zanesville, Ohio, were honored because the "citizens banded together to change a do-nothing attitude and reverse the tide of seediness and decay creeping over their towns."

Springfield, Mo., was selected because the people were jolted awake in 1952 by a discovery of bribery in city government, and put up a fight to clean house, vote in council-manager government and install improvements.

Elgin, Ill., was named because citizens "took action against inefficiency and, in a bitterly fought campaign also won a council-manager plan for their city."

Tacoma, Wash., another winner, citizens "faced up in 1952 to a spectacular problem of vice. With the Army threatening to put the entire city 'out of bounds,' embattled citizens voted in an effective government, and later beat an underworld syndicate which tried to kill it."

Columbus Woman Held in Check Case

Mrs. George Tunneyhill, 24, Columbus, was bound over the grand jury under $500 bond after she pleaded not guilty in Municipal Court Friday morning to raising a check from $10 to $90.

The charge was filed by Joe Evans, proprietor of the Evans Supermarket in Bloomingburg, nearly a year and a half ago.

The check, purportedly signed by Edwin W. Boyer, was on the Lagoda National Bank of Springfield. It was dated July 30, 1955.

Mrs. Tunneyhill had been sought by Sheriff Orland Hays ever since the affidavit was filed. He located her in Columbus, where she was arrested earlier in the week. The sheriff and Mrs. Hays brought her from Columbus early this morning for arraignment in court here.

Village Ups Pay

CLEVELAND (AP) — Council of nearby Solon Thursday night voted pay increases for all employees effective Jan. 1. Salaried employees will get $25 more per month, and others will get a raise of 10 cents an hour.

Extra Vigilance Needed To Maintain City's Traffic Record, Chief Says

Although Ohio shows a slight improvement in traffic deaths compared to 1955 Chief of Police Vaiden Long points out that the improvement has been shown entirely on rural state highways. Traffic deaths in cities are 10 percent higher than last year; there have been 14 per cent more accidents and 16 per cent more people injured in urban traffic.

Washington C. H. is fortunate that it has had no fatal accidents within the city limits since Oct. 17, 1948, but it requires extra vigilance to maintain that record, the officer points out.

The greatest number of traffic collisions occur between 4 and 5 p. m. with 5 to 6 p. m. very closely behind, 3 to 4 p. m. in third spot, but considerably fewer collisions occur in this period, then in the hours immediately following.

Chief Long said that pedestrian vehicles, collisions with fixed objects and non-collision accidents lead the list of accident types during January. The first two are more prominent in cities although many vehicles do collide with poles and other objects in town when the going is slippery.

THE CHILD between the ages of 5 and 9 produces more than his share of the pedestrian injuries. He is injured most frequently at intersections and when he is jaywalking, crossing in the middle of the block. This isn't surprising because these youngsters commonly run into the street. They are seldom seen to stop and look both ways, except in the vicinity of schools where the school patrol more or less enforces that procedure. The second big group of pedestrian injuries at intersections involve persons over 45 years of age. The second large group of jaywalkers are those who are under 5 years old.

Chief Long said "I can't urge too strongly that parents exercise greater supervision over their children and make sure that they are well trained in the safe way of crossing streets. It is best that the child be taught to stop at the curb, count to four, look both ways and not enter the street until there is an assured clear space that would allow him to cross in safety."

It is a good idea to give him a landmark so that if a car is nearer to him than Jones' house or that tree in Brown's yard, he knows that he hasn't enough space to make the crossing without hazard. The elder folks who are involved in pedestrian accidents either have failed to judge the speed of the approaching car properly or have not maintained the lookout that is necessary.

MOTORISTS must realize that many people who are 50 years of age and over have no experience with the modern motor car. They are unaware how rapidly a vehicle can cover ground, and they do not appreciate the distance it takes to stop a car even at 20 miles an hour. Their tendency is to allow less space than necessary for the crossing of the street. Many do not realize that it takes longer for them to cross the street now than it did a few years ago.

The motorist must not assume that the pedestrian is aware of him and will do what he should to assist in avoiding a collision. The motorist must be ready to stop when he sees a pedestrian on the thoroughfare.

Collisions between motor vehicles fall into four main categories: Head-on collisions, rear-end, where the cars are entering an intersection at an angle to each other and where one vehicle is entering the drive or an alley.

Chief Long said that it is not surprising that there are so many head-on collisions. "You notice the number of vehicles that fail to stay to the right of the center line. In a large measure this is the result of inattention on the part of the driver. But, all too often it is the result of unnecessary haste. Some people just can't wait their turn, they have to attempt to sneak around anything that is in front of them, and when you get two characters of that variety on the same street at the same moment, a head-on collision is likely."

A GOOD SHARE of the rear-end collisions result from inadequate space between cars. People get the habit of driving bumper to bumper and whenever anything requires the leading car to check speed there is a tangle. During the winter season, when traction is less than is desirable, additional space between cars is necessary at any speed and double alertness for any change in the rate of travel of traffic ahead.

The intersection accidents where the cars are at an angle to each other in large measure occur when one driver fails to see the car approaching from his right. While it is somewhat difficult to see clearly to the right if the angle is a bit sharp, many drivers don't exercise sufficient caution, look out alertly enough, to be certain that the way is clear before they enter.

All too often they assume that it is clear because they can't see anything with a brief glimpse. At unmarked intersections the vehicle approaching on the right usually has the right of way, but it is a rare thing to see that vehicle given that right without a contest.

Collisions where one of the vehicles is entering an alley or driveway result in large measure from the habit of no signalling for turns. Many drivers signal a left turn, but only a fraction of those turning right give any advance indication that they expect to do that. The habit of following too close enters this type of accident also. The following car usually is too close to check his speed when the turning car slows down to make its turn, or the following car attempts to swing left. There is not space enough and he clips the rear of the turning car.

ALL OF THESE factors add up to a great need for extra caution by the driving public during January. Traction and visibility are such that there isn't much time to do the proper thing. Once an emergency is seen, and with the prevailing road conditions things can't be done suddenly.

Chief Long reminds all drivers that Ohio law requires that a vehicle be operated at such a speed that it can be stopped in the assured clear distance ahead. That distance is never greater than the space that separates your car from the nearest one to it.

Particular care must be exercised on frosty mornings, but remember that the worst hours are those of the early evening. Folks are tired then, in a hurry to get home, and conditions are poor. Take it easy between 3 p. m. and 6 p. m. and arrive safely to enjoy your dinner and an evening with your family.

Special St. John's Day services, which are to be attended in a body by members of the Masonic Blue Lodge here, are to be held at Grace Methodist Church at 10:30 a. m. Sunday.

Masons are to assemble at the church at 10:15 and go in together to a section of pews reserved for them.

Donald J. Fox, 17, Richard O. Coonrod, 18, and Arnold E. Clay, 20, who enlisted in the Navy here, left Friday morning for the Ft. Hayes armed forces examination station at Columbus for their physical examinations.

Fox is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Fox, 602 Rawlings St.; Coonrod is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn R. Coonrod, of Route 3, and Clay is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Clay, Route 1.

According to Chief Philip G. Lee, in charge of the Navy recruiting station here, the three men, if they pass their physical examinations, will be sent to Bainbridge, Md., for their boot training. Lee pointed out that since all three were members of Co. M of the Ohio National Guard, they were enlisted in the Navy with rates corresponding with those they held in the Guard. Lee said that their time spent in the Guard will count also for pay purposes in the Navy.
